Kenland Clover Seen in Demand

Kenland is a red clover strain which will largely supplant Cumberland and perhaps Midland because it has wider marketing possibilities, says Harold Fennell, Oregon State college extension certification specialist.

Certified seed of this newer red clover is in demand, the specialist adds, because it is adapted to that part of the eastern red clover belt where southern anthracnose is a disease problem.

The state's leading Kenland seed producing county in 1950 was Jefferson. Out of the state's 4,616 acres certified last year, the central Oregon county had 3,778 acres of the total.

Fennell says the acreage harvested will likely be about the same in 1951 as it was last year.

The 11 counties were certified Kenland red clover was grown last year are Baker, Benton, Crook, Jefferson, Klamath, Linn, Malheur, Marion, Polk, Union and Yamhill. Seed yields ranged from 200 to 500 pounds per acre.

The specialists says Kenland is the only red clover variety for which a price support has been announced for 1951. It is 40 cents a pound for first quality seed.

Kenland is now being recommended for planting in all or parts of 29 states. Its main area of adaption, however, is Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, southern Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. Tests in the area over a five-year period have shown that Kenland yields 16 percent more forage than the best of other clovers.

Fennell says that in the 29 states now recommended Kenland there is an immediate annual demand for 15,000,000 pounds of seed. The 1951 production has been estimated at 2,000,000 pounds.

It is expected that the 15,000,000 pound mark will be reached by certified growers in 1954 and 1955.

MILL CITY

The Mill City Woman's club held a picnic at the Mill City city park Sunday. Representatives of the Oregon Historical Society from Salem were guests for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mathers and daughter, Penny, former proprietors of the Mill City Jewelry store, were visitors in Mill City one day this week.

The congregation of the Assembly of God church of Mill City are erecting a new church building on property near the B. L. Allen residence in Mill City.

Mrs. David McIntyre of Empire, and daughter of the Charles Umphresses, was a guest in the Umphress home this week.

After spending a three-day pass with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, PFC John Jackson left Wednesday for Ft. Lewis. From Ft. Lewis, PFC Jackson will go to New Jersey and then overseas. He just completed a mechanic course in Atlanta, Georgia.

Guest this week in the home of Miss Daisy Hendricson was Mrs. Vivian Hoeng of Salem, who is an assistant superintendent of schools. Miss Hendricson will return the visit this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Markham and son, John; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Campbell went fishing Sunday on Blue Lake. They caught their limit of fish which included Rainbow, Blue Back and Eastern Brook trout. Most of their fishing was done in the very early morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Epps report a rather gala time of it on their trip to the Hawaiian Islands. The liner which transported them on the blue Pacific had all the fixin's for a wonderful vacation. Rumor has it, however, that Dave got a bit "green about the gills" because of the peculiar movement of the ship! Landlubber!

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Campbell moved to Salem Wednesday.

During the regular meeting of the Mill City Chamber of Commerce, President Russell Kelly tossed out the idea of having a Fourth of July picnic and fireworks display on the Mill City athletic field. The matter is now under consideration by interested organizations in the community.

Jimmy Anderson, son of Mrs. Ruth Witt, was graduated from Mt. Angel Preparatory recently. Jim received the Dramatics Award for the third year in succession.

Visitors recently in the Canyon via the "wild blue yonder" was Archie Hessemann in his new 190 Cessna. Hessemann is now living in Ukia, California.

One day this week Bob Hill spied two twenty dollar bills gone astray on the floor of the Mill City State Bank, and quite disturbed—naturally—began buttonholing recent business callers for a possible lead to the owner of the bills. Any luck yet, Bob? Serial numbers please!

Forest Products Market Summary

Sawlog prices were barely steady in the Willamette Valley during the week ending June 9. Mills continued their normal volume of purchases, but the market undertone was weak as lumber prices worked lower. Pulpwood, poles, and other forest products were about steady, according to the weekly farm forest products market report prepared by the OSC extension service from data supplied by State Farm Foresters and other information.

Douglas Fir Logs:

Willamette Valley mills paid from $32 to $45 a thousand board feet, camp run, for second growth Douglas fir sawlogs, mostly $40. Some declines of 50 cents a thousand were reported in the southern valley during the week. Eight foot logs down to six inch tops were steady at $15 to $18 a cord, or $30 to $40 thousand. Demand was good. Old growth Douglas fir sawlogs were $33.50 to $60, depending on grade. Peelers were $70 to $110. Offers for second growth Douglas fir stumps were steady at $7 to $16 a thousand, depending on location, quality, volume, and other conditions.

Pulpwood:

Pulpwood continued steady. There was limited offer of $15 a cord per peeled Douglas fir and hemlock in 8 foot lengths down to 4 inch diameter in the southern valley. Pulp mills in other parts of the valley offered $20 a cord for peeled spruce and $19 for peeled Douglas fir, Noble fir, White fir, and hemlock in 4 and 8 foot lengths down to 4 inch diameter. Unpeeled, these species brought $2 less. Cottonwood was in moderate demand at $16 to $18 a cord.

Poles and Piling:

Douglas fir poles and piling were in generally good demand at steady prices. Peeled poles ranged from 11 cents to 40 cents a linear foot, according to length. Barkies brought from 9 cents to 43 cents for lengths from 30 to 80 feet. Barkie prices continued highest in the central valley. Piling prices were 20 cents to 40 cents for lengths from 20 to 100 feet.

Hardwood Logs:

Alder, Ash and maple ranged from $30 to $40 a thousand. Cottonwood was $24 and $25 a thousand. Oak and chinquapin were in limited demand at $37.50 in the Eugene area.

Other Forest Products:

Dry cascarq bark was reported at

Eagles Hold Joint Installation Fete

Santiam Aerie No. 2745, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held a joint installation of officers Sunday, June 10, in the Mill City fire hall at 2 p.m.

Robert Wingo and Inez Haun were installed as Worthy Presidents of the men and women's groups respectively. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Loy of Bend, assisted by C. M. Bennett, state treasurer of McMinnville and Lonnie Nickilson of Bend, acted as grand worthy conductor and conductress.

Eight members of the Bend Aerie drill team and their captain, Marian Henry, also took part in the ceremonies. Ted Turner, Grand Aerie representative of Portland, was the guest speaker of the day. Eagles from Bend, Newberg, Salem, Portland, and McMinnville attended the joint installation.

A lunch was served following the main business of the group. Later there was dancing to the music of the Riverside Ramblers.

DETROIT

By MRS. OPAL WHITE

Tommy Barney, who will be in the sixth grade in Detroit school next fall was selected as the representative from this community for the 4-H club scholarship awarded by the parent-teachers association of Idanha and Detroit. He left Tuesday morning for Corvallis.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom MacCleary from Skodie, Illinois, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley White and family the early part of this week. Tom and Stanley were World War II buddies. They were in A.S.T.P. together in Chicago, Camp White, Fort Ord, California, Fort Lawton, Washington, and numerous islands of the Pacific. They served together on eleven islands during numerous battles such as Pelelieu and Okinawa. They arrived home on the same troop-ship, and they were released at Fort Lewis. This is the first time the boys have been together since the end of the war. The MacClearys left Tuesday morning for their home via Crater Lake and other scenic spots.

25 cents a pound. One tannery in the central valley continued its offer of $20 a ton for second growth Douglas fir bark.

O. C. Downings Fete Newly Wed Downings

Fox Valley—Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Downings and a large gathering of relatives and friends feted the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Downings, (nee Elaine Johnson of Yamhill) in the Fox Valley home of the Downings, Sunday afternoon.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Duane Downings are employed and will live in Portland. Duane is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Downings.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the Downings home included Mr. and Mrs. James F. Johnson, parents of the bride of Yamhill; Ralph Black of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell and Miss Bess Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bailey, Twila Sherri, and Mickey; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Camp and son, Gary; Mrs. Harry Hobson, Douglas Hobson all of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Tietze of Aumsville; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tietze and daughter, Edith, of Mehama; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lambrecht, Clarence and Myles; Mr. and Mrs. John Basl; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Basl; Mr. and Mrs. Don Meilson and Sharon; Mrs. Nellie Jones, Vaughn Hunt, George Downing all of Stayton; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Nydigger; Betty, Beverly, Shirley, Mabel and Ronnie Cooper; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnston; Mr.

will again buzz with activity of a junior aviation nature, since Sunday, June 17, is the day of judging of the entries in the special model airplane contest sponsored by Davis Airport. For several days now the prizes have been on display in the Mill City Meat Market. Sunday judges will be flown in to Davis Airport for the determination of the lucky model plane builders.

Sunday visitors flying in were Al Probst, manager of the Albany airport, Johnny Jacobs of Silverton, and Glenn Frank of Stayton. Bitten by the air-bug is Don Watt, a new student, taking flight instructions under Ralph Nibler.

"Dam Flyers Club" buttons bigger than a flying saucer dangle from the wearing apparel of many mustached male these days. Reasons for said buttons, of course, is that they inform the world about the mustache contest and the Third Annual Aviation Day festivity.
