Golden Wedding Flower Theme

"Golden Wedding" will be the theme worked out in decorations at the Mill City garden club flower show in the Presbyterian hall, August 29, 2 to 8 p.m.

Exhibits will be received at the show place from 9 a.m. to 12. Judging by out of town judges will take place at 12 noon and the hall will be closed to the public until 2 o'clock.

Exhibitors must furnish their own containers except for Division I horticultural classes. All containers must be marked with name of the owner. The club will not be responsible for loss or damage, but will exercise utmost care for protection of all exhibits. All exhibits must be cared for by 9 o'clock.

In arrangement classes only one entry will be permitted from one exhibitor in any one class, but in horticultural classes an exhibitor may make any number of entries in the same class provided they are of different color and variety.

All entries in cultural classes must be grown by exhibitor. Containers will be furnished for all horticultural exhibits or specimens blooms. Preference will be given named varieties. Foliage allowed in all arrangements.

Mill City High Class Of 1926 Re-unites

The Class of 1926, Mill City high school, re-called "the good old days" last Sunday at the Clayton Baltimore home in Mill City during the class's first re-union in 25 years. Eight of the original 12 students met with their former teachers, Sunday.

The only deceased class-mate Antone Maravec, Jr., was the occasion of special memorial services conducted by Miss Virginia Mason, a former teacher of those present.

During the course of the re-union, gifts were presented to Miss Mason and Dr. William Beck, the teachers present, Sunday. Mrs. Melbourne Rambo, vice president of the class, presided over the program. Letters from absent classmates and the class prophecy were read before the group.

A vote taken in the Sunday meeting determined that the group will meet again in five years. Those absent from this year's re-union were Robert Olin, Seattle, Washington; John Shaw, Los Angeles, California; and Lulubel Churchill, Washington, D. C.

Those of the Class of 1926 and their families taking part in the re-union, Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Rambo (nee Goldie Champ) and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Baltimore and two sons, and Earl Catherwood of Mill City; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller (nee Crystal Miller) and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Klecker (nee Marion Millsap) and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Marc Landon (nee Ruth Davis), and Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Long of Stayton; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mason and two children from Harrisburg; and Dr. Beck and son, Charles, of Lake Grove.

Sec. F—class 11, corsages, any variety.

Special Exhibits

Demonstration of soil testing.

SALE—Foods, plants, garden and dairy products.

Sec. G—Junior classes: first, second and third grades: No. 1, an arrangement in my favorite container; No. 2, single specimen from own garden, any variety.

Fourth, fifth and sixth grades: No. 3, miniature arrangement, not over six inches tall; No. 4, single specimen, grown and cared for by participant.

Over sixth grade: No. 5, single specimen bloom, any variety; No. 6, arrangement suitable for luncheon table or buffet.

Flowers used in arrangements need not be grown by the exhibitor—specimens must.

Rev. C. O. Tremain Replaces Gould

The Mill City Free Methodist church greeted a new minister, Rev. C. O. Tremain, this week. The annual Oregon conference made the Mill City church appointment. Reverend Tremain replaces Rev. L. C. Gould who was pastor of the local church for two years. Reverend Gould's health does not permit further service at present.

Reverend Tremain and his wife are from Madras, where he was pastor for four years. He is a graduate of Seattle Pacific College, Seattle, Wash. He has been in the ministry for seven years.

The new pastor and his wife will be greeted by the local church and community at a reception at a later date.

Mrs. Artie Mack, delegate from the Mill City church at the annual conference of Free Methodist churches at the denominational camp ground near Portland three weeks ago, reported that one of the major items of business at this year's session was the adoption of a revised constitution for the church.

The revisions bring the church government more nearly under the American principle of local and state authority, rather than the British principle of parliamentary authority after which the original constitution was patterned.

Also, Mrs. Mack indicated conditions of membership have revised and brought under restricted rules which, like the constitution itself, can be changed only by three-fourths of the aggregate vote of all the annual conferences in the United States.

The Free Methodist Sunday school, too, welcomed the new pastor, August 5, when acting superintendent G. E. Davidson gave Reverend Tremain and his wife a special introduction to the children.

Charles Marilyne, Dan and Luke; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Julian; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sletto, Cecil Teagarden and Judy Ware.

The older folks spent the afternoon visiting while the young people enjoyed swimming and boating at a nearby lake.

Pinochle Club Will Visit Next Session

Mrs. Joan Long was hostess today for the weekly card party of the Gates Lucky Twelve Pinochlers in their regular meeting place on highway 222. Again this week a shortage of those answering the roll call was noted.

Bertha Vanderhoff was awarded first honors for her pinochle playing. Mrs. Alene Baker stepped down from her standing last week, but still took the prize for pinochle. Mrs. Jean Wilson was swept into acceptance of second prize by the day's events.

Hostess Long delighted her party guests with a maraschino cherry cake, ice cream and coffee in her offering for the traditional one-thirty dessert luncheon of the club.

Next Thursday's card party will be a picnic affair at the home of Mrs. Jeannine Herzberg, a former club member who now lives on the Dayton-Salem highway some 50 miles from Salem.

Public Can See and Hear Opera Carmen

The city of Portland will play host to Oregonians and tourists with a summer festival of music August 11-20, in the Rose City's Washington Park open-air amphitheatre, as part of its Centennial observance.

During the fortnight of musical festivity listeners will dance, see, and hear Bizet's opera Carmen, a performance by children of Midsummer Night's Dream, public square and folk dancing, and concerts by Portland's summer band.

Highlight of the festival is Carmen, presented in three performances by the Portland Civic Opera Association. The association, a non-profit group, was recently incorporated under the laws of Oregon and was formed because of local demand for a bona fide grand opera company. Carmen will be heard Saturday, August 11, at 5 p.m.; Sunday, August 12, at 5 p.m., and Saturday August 18, at 8:30 p.m. All performances, free to the public, will be staged in the Washington Park Rose Gardens open-air amphitheatre.

Carmen features a cast of more than 200, including a 100-voice chorus, a 45-piece orchestra, boys choir, principals, and extras.
