It's a 'Backward' Party For Teen-age Canteeners

Things are on the move for teen-agers. The party slated for Teen-agers, Saturday night might not give that indication, however. Reason—it's a "backward party".

The price of admission simply is: come to the Mill City fire hall, Saturday night dressed backwards! Mrs. Russell Hoffman, chairman of the Teen-ager Canteen this year, promises, "We'll get teen-agers into the swing of a swell year even if they do start it off 'backwards'!"

MEHAMA

By JEAN ROBERTS
Although forests are closed to logging, timber owners and logging operators are installing locked gates across forest roads as a fire prevention measure.

Forest service "no admittance" signs have been posted for years but have been roundly ignored. Gates, too, have been torn down many times. In retaliation, a Weyerhaeuser gate, which is considered foolproof, has been installed by timber owners in several places. It is built of railroad iron and is secured by a padlock enclosed within a metal box. No room is left for using a hacksaw, hammer, or even a rifle bullet in dislodging the lock. Opening this lock with a key, even, is difficult.

The summer's exceptional dryness and low humidity have made logging operators increasingly aware of fire danger. A fire originating on a company's logging makes that company liable to the extent of the fire damage, or to the extent of its assets.

Another reason for installation of gates is the blocking of thefts. A number of logging operators have reported theft of power saws when not protected by gates.

With the deer season approaching, hunters will be seeking access to the forests. Some property owners, however, state that gates are for fire purposes and will be opened for hunting season, if weather permits.

With the river at a low level and wells and springs still lower, several people are drilling new wells or having old ones deepened in the search for more water.

A well being drilled on the Lloyd Sletto property was last reported down to 230 feet and still no water. The Sletto property is located only a short distance from the Little North Santiam river.

The drilled spot was "witched" by a Silverton man who predicted water.

Don Jenkins was in Portland today on business.

Legion Auxiliary Delegates Report

Mrs. Teary Muir and Mrs. Ina Chase, local Legion auxiliary delegates to the American Legion convention in Seaside, report that the Oregon Legion auxiliary went over the top in their membership drive for the year. Mrs. Muir and Mrs. Chase served on the Girls' State and Poppy Poster committees at the convention.

They state that Mrs. Hubert Goode, past national president, gave a very inspiring talk and presented the American flag and the National Legion auxiliary colors to the department of Oregon Legion; and requested that the colors be kept by the department until her death.

She expressed the wish, however, that the colors be at her side on her death.

The local delegates to the convention said that after Mrs. Goode's address, there were very few dry eyes in the audience. They point out that the presentation of these colors is a very great honor since these particular colors once graced Arlington national cemetery memorial services.

New American Legion district president for Mill City and district number two will be Mrs. Cecil Lucht of Mt. Angel. New auxiliary department president is Mrs. W. E. Wilkins of LaGrande. High-lights of the Seaside Legion convention will be given by the local auxiliary delegates at the next meeting of the auxiliary, Monday, Oct. 15.

Maurice Thompsons Wed in Washington

Mrs. Henry Helton (nee Esther Schindler) widowed mother of three children, and Maurice Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thompson of Portland, were married Wednesday, Sept. 12, in Stevenson, Wash.

The bride is the proprietor of the Mill City cafe, 'The Thing'. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Schindler of Salem. Mrs. Thompson's former husband, father of Marion, Ralph, and James Helton, was killed two and a half years ago by a train near Tulelake, Calif., where the Heltons had a homestead.

The groom is a high climber for the Nygard Logging company. He was given a field commission of first lieutenant during World War II and was in seven different invasions in the South Pacific. John S. Wynn, brother-in-law of Thompson, has a homestead in Tulelake, Calif. Thompson's sister, Mrs. F. A. Gabel, has just returned from Hawaii after 18 years of service as a nurse, both in and out of the army in Hawaii.

Currently the Thompsons are making their home in Mill City, but ultimately will make Eugene their home.

Local Cub Scouts Will Picnic Sunday, Sept. 23

The September pack meeting of the Cub Scouts will take the form of a picnic at the Mill City park Sunday, September 23, starting at 2:00 p.m. An interesting program of games and contests have been arranged which will insure a good time for all in attendance.

The weekly den meetings of the Cubs were resumed this week after having been discontinued during the summer vacation period. The committee extends a hearty invitation to all boys who have not yet enrolled in the pack. They may attend the picnic Sunday, and bring their parents so that they can become acquainted with the Cub Scout program and its contribution to the welfare of the boys of the community.

The age limit of the Cubs is 8 to 11 inclusive. The committee has set as its goal 100% enrollment in the pack of all boys in the community within the age limit.

Gates Girl Scouts Kept Very Active

During the past summer, the Gates troops of Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. C. Antonia Thomas and Mrs. Alura Chance, made a number of very interesting trips.

Their first day-long outing, Gloria and Barbara Crowshaw, Ellen and Roberta Chance, Juanita Thomas, Mildred Spry, Susie Jordan, Ann Marie Hirte and Donnalee Oliver went to Petersen's rock gardens near Redmond, saw the Lava River Cave state park, picnicked, swam, and had a thoroughly enjoyable day.

June 17th the girls went swimming at Breitenbush and made definite progress in this sport. September 5th, some of the girls and their leaders, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Chance, spent the afternoon at the state fair.

The most ambitious trip of all, however, was the three-day camping trip made by the First Class Scouts to Crater Lake national park. The girls kept a picture record of the trip beginning with the Pumice Desert. The first day, after various stops made during the drive around the rim, the girls finally stopped and made camp. They pitched the tent, put up wind breaks and laid out their sleeping bags, and, of course, photographed the other gal's mistakes when off guard. Later on they took a nature-hike along Dutton Ridge and Crystal Way. That evening the girls carefully put their food supplies away (and were they glad) for bears are nocturnal visitors, and are hungry. For Friday's camp, the drive was made to Collier's state park. Although no overnight camping is permitted there, an exception was made in the case of the Girl Scouts. Saturday morning the girls drove to Klamath Falls where they saw pelican, swan, mallard and canvas back ducks, merganser and grebe. Coot and sea gulls were an added touch. So that they could prove they had been in the state of California, they went as far as the checking station. Not content with this much sightseeing, on the way home stops were made at any point that might prove of interest, even at the Marion Forks fish hatchery, where the girls found that the fish would bite a finger thrust in the water.
