ELKHORN

By MRS. ELSIE MYERS

Quick action on the part of an Elkhorn resident Saturday night led to the arrest of one of the three house breakers and the recovery of stolen goods from the Elkhorn guest ranch.

About 8:30 the resident noticed a light flashing over the fields near their home and believing spot-lighters at work called the state police. The car proceeded up the valley and did not return for about two hours when it came at a high rate of speed only to encounter two game wardens when they reached the road leading over the Gates hill.

Although ordered to stop they sped down the road followed by the police, but upon reaching the Lumker bridge failed to negotiate the sharp turn onto the bridge and plunged down a twenty foot rock embankment with the two front wheels of the car resting in the river. One occupant of the car jumped but the other two rode it to the bottom.

All quickly disappeared into the brush but several hours later one returned to the scene in search of his partners and was picked up by the police. At last reports Monday evening the other two were still at large.

The car bearing California license plates, was filled with blankets, sheets, cooking utensils, rug, etc., which later were found to have been taken from the Elkhorn guest ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Randall, owners were at Oakridge at the time.
