Special Announcement

We have added another pharmacy to "The Quisenberry Pharmacies, that operate as one"
130 S. Liberty St., Salem

The new pharmacy will be open until 11:00 o'clock at night on week days and from 12:00 noon until 2:00 P.M. and 6:00 until 9:00 in the evenings on all Sundays and all holidays.

There we will specialize in prescriptions and stock will be limited to medicines and sick room supplies.

Your prescriptions will be on file there as well as at the other locations and will be available, for your convenience, these longer hours.

The new location is 130 South Liberty Street, and the phone number is 4-3336. However, if you dial the Court Street number, 3-9123, and that store is closed, the call will be relayed.

We are pleased to be able to offer this kind of prescription service and to have it available these longer hours.

Knowledge is Power

(1) Gene Lockhart stepped into the starring role of "Death of a Salesman" and gave his lines without the cursing which the playwright had written into the star's role. Fulton Oursler describes the incident in "Modern Parables." Lockhart's performance was so moving that author, producer and director congratulated him. No one mentioned the deleted words.

(2) Simples is an old word for medicinal herbs that were used as household remedies, explains Alice H. Williamson in "Popular Gardening." In cooking, she points out, "the herbs are anything but simple, for each has more uses than you can possibly imagine." To add savor to your soups and salads she suggests you grow the six simples, lemon basil, dill, rosemary, marjoram, sweet basil and savory. They thrive without fertilizer in poorest soils and never droop for lack of attention.

(3) "A piece of steak acts as a cold compress," according to an eye specialist quoted by Liam O'Connor in "American" magazine. There is no chemical action; the juice of the meat doesn't "take down the swelling." It was a sensible measure to use in the days before refrigerators. But now ice is plentiful, steak isn't.

Weekly Farm Forest Products Market

Demand for Douglas fir sawlogs was fair to good in the Willamette Valley during the week ending June 7.

Slow demand for lumber to be shipped out of state has caused some mills to be cautious in their log buying. A few price cuts have been reported but prices were generally unchanged. Most other forest products were about steady, according Weekly Farm Forest Products Market Report prepared from data supplied by the state Board of Forestry to the OSC Extension Service.

Douglas Fir Sawlogs:

Douglas fir sawlogs were about steady throughout the valley last week but the market undertone was weak. Prices were generally at OPS ceilings except in southern Lane County, which paid as much $2.50 a thousand below ceilings. Second-growth sawlogs in the northern and central valley were $40 a thousand for No. 3's and No. 2's in the river. Lane County ceilings were $37.50 for No. 3's and $42.50 for No. 2's delivered to mills. 8-foot logs down to 6 inch diameter were in good demand at $15 to $18 a cord or $40 a thousand with some mills in the foothills paying down to $32.

Stumpage:

Stumpage sales were reported about steady to slightly lower. Good shows of second-growth or mixed second and old growth Douglas fir brought mostly $18 to $20 a thousand. Average shows were around $15, with poor shows down to $10. Alder stumpage in the central valley was reported at $3 to $4 a thousand. Alder logs, "bunched" in the woods, brought $20 a thousand.

Pulpwood:

Demand for pulpwood was fair at

GATES

Gates enjoyed a refreshing spring rain over the weekend which was welcomed by everyone. The woods were getting dry and dangerous and the gardens and lawns were badly in need of the life-giving rains. High in the hills the rain turned to snow, which was equally welcome.

northern and central valley pulp mills. Delivered prices were $19 a cord for split and peeled Douglas fir, true firs and hemlock. Unpeeled true firs, hemlock and spruce were $17. Unpeeled Douglas fir was $14 to $15 a cord.

Poles and Piling:

Short poles and piling continued in limited demand. Douglas fir barkie poles 50 feet and over were 20½ to 45 cents a lineal foot, depending on length and grade. 50-foot lengths ranged from 20½ to 28 cents a foot.

Hardwoods: Most hardwoods were unchanged in the northern valley. Alder and ash ranged from $34.50 to $40 a thousand. Maple was $40 and cottonwood was $28 to $30. Cottonwood for excelsior brought $14 a cord at Eugene.

Other Forest Products:

Dry cascara bark prices were reported at 12 to 15 cents a pound. Fern was nominal at 16 cents a bunch.

Is the house getting a fresh paint job soon? If so, remember to protect the shrubbery from stray paint splashes. The best way is to tie it back with ropes, then cover carefully with cloths.

There's no good reason why clothes can't be passed on from one child to another as long as they don't look like hand-me-downs. Oftentimes, an old play suit or dress will look almost store new if given fresh color with all-purpose dye. Try it!

White organdy, so sheer and fragile, is very much in the summer fashion picture. It appears in collars of all sizes and shapes, fills in the necklines of suits, makes up bodice tops and shirtwaists. And some of the prettiest afternoon and evening dresses are also in white organdy.

Have you tried fried chicken in the oven? Yes, in the oven, like this: Roll cut-up chicken in seasoned flour, place in a shallow baking pan and dot generously with vitaminized margarine. "Fry" in a 400 degree oven 15 minutes on one side and then 15 on the other. So crisp and delicious!

To improvise a ring mold for rice, spinach, noodles or meat loaf, place a small pyrex custard cup, greased on the outside, in the center of a deep baking dish. This could also be used as a mold for potato salad.
