Mrs. Edna McCreary Hosts Gates Lucky Twelve Club

Mrs. Edna McCreary little knew that her day as hostess for Gates Lucky Twelve Pinochle club would be such a memorable one as she prepared. Indeed it was apple pie everything. Apple pie and cheese were the main foundation of the day's dessert luncheon.

Things sparkled as they got underway among the Twelves. Bubbling with luck was Grandma Millie Wood. "Grandma" Wood got that way for the first time at 5 a.m. the morning before the card session. "Grandma's" first was a grandson. She took first prize also so her day would be complete.

Living in the shadow of "Grandma's" capers Thursday were Mrs. Bea Graunke and her pinochle prize and Mrs. Lila Bushnell, low prize.

thing that's new and of special interest to the farmer or rancher is promised.

On the entertainment side of the 1952 exposition, will be features galore, according to Joe Simeral, manager of feature attractions.

Topping the list, is the nightly stage revue, playing all eight nights before the grandstand audiences. Titled "Fun Incorporated", the show is produced by Larry Allen Inc., one of the West Coasts' largest talent and booking agencies. Jack Marshall, the funny man with the flexible face, will emcee the all-star revue, featuring six topflight, nationally and internationally-known acts, Phil Bovero and his network orchestra and 16 Helen O'Neill dancing darlings in colorful production numbers. Among the headline acts slated to appear are the following:

The Tunsmiths, eight men with nothing but melody—real barber-shop harmony on their minds, direct from appearances on leading radio shows, including the Standard Hour.

The Wilder Brothers, three friendly fellows who have a way with a song, presenting fast-moving but melodic interpretations of the days' top tunes. Buster West and Lucille Page, the silly sailor and the zany maid, in dizzy dance routines that have given them international fame as one of show business' outstanding acts.

Martez and Lucia, the Latins with a Lift, in acrobatic and adagio numbers done to the stirring south-of-the-border rhythms in costumes as colorful and gay as the spirit of the Latins.

The Mandarins, three Chinese men and a maid, in daring, gravity-defying acrobatic marvels of muscular co-ordination, will furnish exciting mo-air corps. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Howe will accompany their son to Portland. Bill graduated in June from OSC, majoring in business administration and technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ingram of Corvallis were Sunday guests of the Charles Umphress.

The Women's Society of the Christian church met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ellis Hill. Mrs. George Flook was program leader. Those present were Mrs. Carl Chance, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Hugh Jull, Mrs. Glen Shelton, Mrs. Walter Harris of Salem and the hostess, Mrs. Hill.

The Theto Rho society met on Thursday evening. Two new members were initiated and there were three visitors at the meeting.

ments of breath-taking thrills.

Charlie Chase, previously seen at the fair, will be on hand with his famous "chawing" routines.

For the rodeo-minded, a special treat is in store with the appearance of the Christenson Brothers of Eugene. With a goal of $9500 in cash and a $2500 State Fair trophy, the West's leading cowboys will compete for World's Championship points, based on a point for each dollar won. Tabbed for appearance at the rodeo are: Casey Tibbs, World's champion cowboy, featured in Life magazine; Felix Cooper, the colored clown and his balk buddy, Buster the mule; Eddie Ackridge, champion bare-back rider; and Sunny Turman, former World's champion in bare-back riding. The nightly rodeo will also feature such personalities as Patsy Stout, tops in trick roping and riding; Nancy Shepherd, feminine artist with a rope and horse; Don Campbell and his coast-wise-famed palomino, the Talisman, acknowledged champion parade horse wearing a $25,000 gold and silver saddle. Events slated for the rodeo include: bare-back riding, calf-roping bull-dogging or steer wrestling, and Brahma bull and saddle-bronc riding.

Harking back to the good old days, a balloon ascension and parachute jump will be a free attraction every evening at 7 p.m. The ascent will be made from the vicinity of the farm machinery area and Ralph Wiggins, Hollywood daredevil, after performing acrobatics on a trapeze bar some 1500 feet above ground, will leap into space on his parachute jump.

"We have planned the 1952 Oregon State Fair," said Mr. Leo G. Spitzbart, general manager, "to afford something for every family to thoroughly enjoy."
