Editor's Letter Box

Dear Mr. Peterson:
To my regret, I was not at the city council meeting when John Muir argued against the voter's electing officials of Mill City government. How did Mr. Muir get to be a city councilman? If we follow through this specious logic, then all government officials would be appointed right up to President of our country. I feel very strongly that ALL public officials should be elected and that includes the mayor, city recorder and municipal judge. That's the democratic way and the only way. This town is supposed to belong to everyone in it—not just a few.

I don't like to gripe all the time, but some things need public airing. For instance, I heard a dozen or more people say that they felt it was wrong to charge $1.00 for that last ball game and that we should have been told at the box office that the

AMERICA'S PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES WERE NOT ALWAYS NOMINATED BY POLITICAL CONVENTIONS. THE FIRST NATIONAL NOMINATING CONVENTION IN THE U.S. WAS HELD IN NEW YORK CITY IN 1832 WHEN THE FEDERALIST PARTY NOMINATED DEWITT CLINTON. SINCE 1832, WHEN MARTIN VAN BUREN WAS NOMINATED FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, NATIONAL NOMINATING CONVENTIONS HAVE BEEN THE RECOGNIZED MEANS OF SELECTING CANDIDATES.

Rural Libraries--

"Children learn to read by reading. Because we find some child in the upper grades who cannot read books of that grade level, it does not necessarily mean that we are working with a child who is not bright. Boys especially find text books dull. They may say they hate reading, and often it may be because they are forced to read from books they don't like; and soon they hate school too.

"In order to develop good readers and regain an interest in reading, I find the average school library quite inadequate. The number of books is necessarily limited, and especially books on any given subject. This means that we, as teachers, must rely upon outside sources. To some that means using the state library, which adds to the teacher's burden the packaging and carrying to the post office a large carton of books every few weeks. Besides the extra work and expense, this has other disadvantages: you have no opportunity to see these books and select those suitable to your needs, and the books you do not use or finish with are kept on the shelf out of circulation until you are ready to mail the entire collection.

"The last three years I taught in a rural school we lived in Albany, so I had the advantage of selecting books from the Albany city library. With the assistance of the pupils in my room and of the librarian, I selected about thirty books which seemed to fit their ability and interest. At the end of a week those that were not chosen to be read were returned and about fifteen more brought out. Sometimes we may have had as many as forty-five books in our room at one time, but as soon as they were no longer needed they were returned.

"During the time we were using these books it was interesting to note the trends in selecting new books. Nearly every pupil became conscious of the type of books written by different authors and asked for books by the authors they liked. There was an interest in sharing what they had read—here's a good book that I think you would like."

"The children who hated to read learned to love it when they could read books they liked. Providing such supplementary books for their pupils is one of the problems of the rural schools and rural teachers."

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

"EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT THE WEATHER— BUT NOBODY DOES ANYTHING ABOUT IT."

—AN OLD SAYING, CURRENT IN OUR FATHERS' TIME, THAT NEVER REALLY STOOD UP THEN—WHAT WITH UMBRELLAS, SUNSHADES AND SUCH, IT STANDS UP EVEN LESS TODAY.

TAKE THE FARMER, FOR EXAMPLE—MORE DEPENDENT ON THE WEATHER THAN MOST. HE NOW HAS DROUGHT-RESISTANT CORN AND GRAINS—AND IS EVEN EXPERIMENTING WITH MAKING RAIN. HE HAS ROT AND RUST RESISTANT PLANTS AND IS DEVELOPING WAYS OF MAKING HAY WITHOUT SUNSHINE. THUS HE CAN PROTECT HIMSELF AGAINST SOME OF THE PRINCIPAL WEATHER RISKS—JUST AS THE AMERICAN FAMILY TODAY, THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS, CAN PROTECT ITSELF AGAINST SOME OF THE HAZARDS OF THE FUTURE.

Gordon Scarbrough and baby daughter Marilyn were here with her parents. Betty and baby are making their home with her folks while her husband is stationed at Pearl Harbor with the navy. He expects to be sent back to the states in December.

Fred Lindemann recently. Mr. and Mrs. Grover Rodich made a business trip to Eugene Tuesday.

Mountain States field man Eldon Swank, was calling on local patrons in this locality Wednesday.

Bean picking is nearing the end of the season. Quite a number of local folks are through work at the cannery in Stayton also as the beans are not coming in to keep so many employed. Schools opening next week will take most of the pickers anyway so its well the crops were harvested while help was available.
