Toastmistress Club Appoint Committee

Mill City Toastmistress club spokesman, June Miley, will be in the speech contest spotlight Thursday evening, March 12, at the Golden Pheasant in Salem. Salem Toastmistress club and Mill City will join in a dinner meeting. Marion Todd, is Mill City's alternate. This event will take the place of the usual March 12 meeting of the Mill City Toastmistress club.

The regular meeting of the Mill City Toastmistress club was held Thursday evening, February 26, Ruby Crosier, president, presided.

Invocation was given by Faustina Nesbitt; toastmistress was Gwen Jones; topicmistress was Barbara Yarnell, and speakers, June Miley and Aline Steffy.

Barbara Yarnell brought Lucille Lowery as her guest; Lois Scott was the guest of Marion Todd, and Dolores Stewart, the guest of Pat Wingo.

Something new has been added with the advent of extemporaneous speeches. Two or more members are selected and asked for a speech on a subject unknown to them until a few moments before speaking. The two selected Thursday night were Casey Chaney and Pat Wingo, both performed admirably, Aline Steffy reports.

The following committee chairmen were appointed last Thursday by Mrs. Crosier. They will serve for the remainder of the current season:

Program: Edythe Means, chairman assisted by Casey Chaney; Education: Marion Todd; Parliamentarian: Mabel Nelson; Membership: Vera Hathaway; Club Representative: Elsie Potter; Community Service: Edna Ross; Public Relations: Edna Hutcheson; Evaluator: June Miley, assisted by Louise Palmer; Press-historian: Aline Steffy; Hospitality: Faustina Nesbitt, assisted by Barbara Yarnell and Elaine Keirsey; Lexicologist: Tyler Pinkston.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday, March 26.

Deanha PTA Holds Colorful Meeting

Detroit — A colorful sailor's drill highlighted the program for the Deanha PTA meeting Thursday evening.

Students of Miss M. B. Miller's fourth grade class, assisted by three fifth grade girls, appeared in sailor uniforms and caps and while carrying red anchors marched through a complicated and rhythmic drill before a large attendance of parents and friends.

In addition to the drill three readings were presented, including a group choral reading and others by Mary Witt and Mary Lou Moore. Brenda Humphrey led the class and audience in the flag salute at the opening of the program.

The business meeting, which followed, was conducted by Mrs. Catherine Warby, secretary, who opened the meeting by reading letters of resignation from the president, Mrs. Alfred Cokenour, and vice president, Mrs. Bradford Humphrey.

Elected to complete the unfinished terms were Miss Kazuko Inuzuka president, and Mrs. Alice Moore, vice president.

Presbyterian Women Honor Mrs. Geddes

Presbyterian Women's association met Wednesday afternoon in the church recreation rooms with Mrs. James Swan presiding. Mrs. Floyd Jones was in charge of the devotional hour. Mrs. Herbert Schroeder, secretary of Missionary Education reported on attending a meeting in Portland the latter part of January.

Honored at the meeting Wednesday was Mrs. Ida Geddes who celebrated her 98th birthday in February. Mrs. Don Sheythe sang Mrs. Geddes' favorite hymn. Mrs. Geddes was further honored with an orchid corsage from the Presbyterian association presented by Mrs. W. W. Allen.

Masons and Eastern Stars Enjoy Banquet

There were about 120 members and guests attending the annual Masonic-Eastern Star banquet Saturday night held in the IOOF hall. Speaker of the evening was Rex Davis of Salem, who is a past grand master and a member of St. John's Lodge No. 17 of Albany.

Cummie Reid of Salem, acted as master of ceremonies. Entertainment was accordion and guitar music by Wiltsey music studio from Salem.

Oswald Hirte acted as general chairman for the banquet and table decorations were by Eastern Star members.

The Presbyterian church women served the meal.

Jack Alloway is master of the local Masonic order and Laurel Johnson is worthy matron of Marilyn chapter of Mill City.

MILL CITY

Anton Moravec attended the funeral of Mrs. Harry Hobson in Salem, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Hobson was interred at City View cemetery. The Hobsons lived at 1760 S. High St. in Salem at the time of Mrs. Hobson's death.

Ramon Roberts fell at his home last week fracturing his paralyzed leg at the knee. Roberts is in the Veterans' hospital now and reports are that he may have to undergo an operation on the injured leg.

Mrs. Alice Farman has been appointed to be in charge of Mill City sales of American Legion poppies this year and she will select members of her committee. Mrs. Dolores Stewart, president of the local auxiliary, reported that the women voted during the last meeting to join the Marion county council.

Salem's senior high school band, composed of 78 members, presented a one-hour program Monday, March 2, beginning at 12:40 p.m. in the local grade school gym. A small was charged which is to be used to purchase band uniforms for the local school band. The Salem band donated their services toward the cause.

While the Hobsons lived in the Fox Valley community, Hobson fashioned fish poles and bows and arrows used in archery and bow and arrow hunting.

Large Crowd Enjoys School Home Talent

Detroit—Revealed to a large audience at Detroit school Tuesday evening was the mysterious "sebenette" promised in "Dr. Quack's Medicine Show".

Seven eighth grade boys in black-face composed the "sebenette" to sing, dance and joke with other students of the class through an hour of comedy in colorful costumes.

"Dr. Quack" played by Michael Moore was assisted by Donald Watkins in presenting the show talent.

Students taking part included Brad Humphrey, Leonard Snyder, Michael Howland, Lanny Vickers, Bruce Gordon, Roger Fleming, Danny Bowers, Danny Gescher, Donald Jackson, Gene Rudy and John Wallace. The four eighth grade girls, Judy Haseman, Phyllis Ketchum, Rosalia Bowers and Melody Palmer received an encore from the audience for their dance which climaxed the program.

A group of first grade children also appeared on the program to sing and dance while other students posed as the doctor's customers.

Dialogue and continuity for the show were arranged by the eighth grade students with the assistance of their instructor, Mrs. Mildred Ray. Mrs. Maycel Cokenour helped direct the group.
