

By DON PETERSON

Last week our druggist, J. C. "Doc" Kimmel moved into his new quarters on the Linn county side of Mill City and is now open for business in his new building. "Doc" has a nice new fire proof building that anyone could be justly proud of and Mill City will undoubtedly reward him and his wife for their efforts and faith in the community. "Doc" was held up in opening his new store by the slow arrival of stocks and supplies to properly stock the new store.

Some months ago "Doc" added to his staff, Mr. J. C. Jeffcott, an efficient and experienced pharmacist, who has already made a warm spot for himself in the community during his short residence among us. Mill City warmly welcomes the addition of this new business building and the beauty it adds.

The Great "Give-Away" Party is fighting in the senate to give away our very heritage. Unless we get busy and wire our senators to put a stop to such trafficking in the rights of our children you may rest assured that Taft and Eisenhower will do just that! Taft is demanding the passage of the so-called "tidelands" bill giving off-shore oil lands to the neighboring states. And Eisenhower today has demanded its passage so that he can hurry up and sign it into law!

But would it end there? That would be bad enough, giving away $50 billions or more of land and oil rights that historically belong to the federal government, but that is not all! Oh, my no! There are bills in the senate to give away practically anything you can name that the federal government owns, including timber, grazing and mineral land and rights, power and irrigation dams, electric power transmission lines, boats, railroads, atomic energy power plants, and on and on. This bill on the "tidelands" is to be used as a test, if it succeeds, you can expect many more.

Oregon is fortunate to have one senator who is fighting to preserve those rights where they belong and that one is none other than our distinguished Sen. Wayne Morse. He has the courage to fight to prevent this wholesale grab from taking place, along with a notable group of senators most of whom are Democrats. They will succeed, since the flood of letters and wires coming into Washington has been tremendous and the Republican party has already received a stigma from this unholy alliance with big business that it will never be able to live down.

Get busy with those letters to Sen. Guy Gordon, Senate Office building, Washington, D.C., demanding that he vote against the "give-away" bills and also send a letter of encouragement to Sen. Wayne Morse for his courageous stand and his willingness to fight for your rights. Do it now—TODAY!

Senators Warn Oil Grab Dangerous

In a 12-11 vote, Sen. Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) told the Senate that the bill to force the federal government to give off-shore lands to the coastal states would do "irretrievable damage" to the U. S.

Instead, Douglas said, Congress should pass bills sponsored by Sens. Lister Hill (D., Ala.) and Clinton Anderson (D., N. M.) which would earmark funds from submerged oil lands to all the 48 states for school aid. These bills have been supported by the AFL and other progressive organizations and individuals.

The Illinois Democrat reminded the senate that the U. S. Office of Education has estimated that needed school construction totals $7 billion, and that the most which could reasonably be expected to be raised by states and localities is $3.8 billion. That leaves a deficit of $3.2 billion which the Hill-Anderson legislation would easily pay for, he noted.

The senator pointed out that the (Continued on Page 8)

Freshman-Sophomore Shop Tour Reported

By PROF. DELOS HOEYE
Following the resolve made last week about another shop visit, this time to the Freshman-Sophomore class, permission was gained for the project and it has been accomplished. Here is the record of that visit.

Just as with the other class, activity abounded, accompanied by the sounds and smells that make shop such an interesting place. Bob "The Bubble" Stettner was busy sanding a modern wall shelf until he could see his reflection in it. Made of Tennessee red cedar which is a very pretty wood. "Knots," was Bob's only comment. The two Eddies, Gregory and Leach, were busy assembling what they called gun racks.

Mauje Bassett was busy turning a nut bowl of Myrtle wood on one lathe, while LeRoy Emerson was doing a lamp of Myrtle on the other. Watching the shavings fly and the projects taking shape under the cutting tools is most fascinating.

Alan Ray seemed to be conserving something (energy perhaps) but the gun rack he is building is something different. Larry Harrington is building a stand that refuses to be square but leans first one way, then another.

Roewayne Holt is building a magazine rack that would be a compliment to any living room. And Dick Crook is justly proud of a bedside stand he is making. What takes the eye on this project is the drawer pull which Dick says he made himself.

Over in one corner of the shop was a great pile of short boards of various sizes and shapes. Near them was a gadget that just didn't seem to be at home here. Questioning elicited the information that these were the results of yet another class.

A volunteer group who have formed what they choose to call the "Canyon Hurdle Co." It seems that the track boys needed hurdles, ten of them. So the hurdle company was organized, a plan devised, and production started during free time from other studies in the 5th period. There is a "contract," time cards are kept, and the company otherwise acts like a going concern. Their "contract," incidentally, calls for each employee to be paid for his time in "worthless warrants." The fellows assure one and all that these warrants are good for trade in "Lower Slobovia."

Well, you too will have a chance to see all these things for yourself when the shop classes stage their project exhibit May 9 in the Mill City Furniture store building. See you there.

Band Uniform Benefit Movie Coming May 5

Plans are now under way for the spring benefit movie sponsored by the Mill City Parent-Teacher Assn. for the purpose of contributing to the fund for band uniforms.

The film selected by the executive board was "Plymouth Adventure," starring Spencer Tracy, Gene Tierney, and Van Johnson. This excellent picture has received fine ratings from movie reviewers as well as from Parents' Magazine, and is of considerable historical interest even to young children who are familiar with the voyage of the Mayflower, as well as the first year the pilgrims lived in the New World.

School matinees are scheduled for May 5, 6, and 7, with a regular night showing on Thursday the 7th. Usual prices will prevail.

Plans for Bookmobile To Be Studied Apr. 29

Possible routes which a bookmobile might follow in serving Linn county under a county library plan will be shown on a map of the county at a meeting on Wednesday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock in the dining room of the 4-H club fairgrounds building near Albany. All persons interested in improving library facilities in rural Linn county are invited to attend. It is hoped that every section of the county will be well represented.

The purpose of the meeting is to form a continuing committee to follow up the county library plan presented at a public meeting on March 31 by the educational committee for understanding the county library. The new committee will act as a sponsoring group to work for the county library if and when desired by county residents.

The map being prepared by Eleanor Davis, Albany city librarian, will show locations of schools and community centers, and indicate proposed routes for bookmobile service to outlying sections, as well as supplementary service to small town libraries already operating. Discussion of the plan and a question period will be conducted by Mrs. Floyd Edwards, chairman of the educational committee and others.

Korean Missionary Speaks Here Apr. 27

Rev. John Crothers, retired Presbyterian missionary from Korea, will speak at the Mill City Presbyterian church, Monday, April 27, at 8 o'clock. Son and grandson of Presbyterian ministers, Mr. Crothers has given more than 40 years of his life to the work of the Presbyterian church in Korea. Appointed in 1909 by the Board of Foreign Missions, has been assigned to Andong, and this duty has been his home during all his missionary life.

He has had the oversight of many churches and has taught hundreds of Bible classes. He has also been copastor of the Andong City church and had charge of Bible Institutes. Keeping in mind his early aim to reach the unreached, he organized correspondence courses for Bible study in the villages and distributed Scripture portions to hundreds of Koreans. When missionary itinerating and church work were no longer allowed by the Japanese, Crothers did evangelistic work in the hospital.

In 1940 Mr. and Mrs. Crothers were temporarily transferred to the Philippine Mission. They were interned at Los Banos. After release on Feb. 23, 1945, repatriation and rest in the U.S., they returned to Andong, Korea, where Mr. Crothers is often called the "Father of Andong." At first much of his time was consumed in supervising property repair and rehabilitation and in distributing relief supplies to the needy, especially to lepers and displaced persons. As soon as possible Bible Institutes were re-organized for men, women, and young people. Real revivals have taken place in Taegu and Andong as a result.

Mr. and Mrs. Crothers returned to the U.S. in 1951, and since December 31 of that year have been on the roll of "Honorably Retired" missionaries. Everyone is invited to the service held in his honor.
