Detroit's 4-H Sewing Club Attends Fair

Detroit—Ten members of Detroit's sixth grade Busy Bee 4-H sewing club will attend the Marion County 4-H fair at Stayton next week with one of their leaders, Mrs. Georgia New, and Mrs. Goldie Storey.

The girls are in their third year of 4-H work, having begun with a health club and now completing their second year in sewing. Mrs. Floy Storey and Mrs. New have been leaders for two years.

The club members will display their years' project at the fair, hot dish holders, aprons and scarfs. Last year the Detroit group won distinction in the 4-H parade by being the only club in uniform and they will again march in the parade Friday in uniform.

Members of the club are Delores Gescher, Evelyn Harper, Sally New, Darlyene Storey, Martha Mason, Gloria Evenson, Violet Robinson, Clydia Storey, Lodell Wallace and Susanne Moore.

The Debunker

It is a mistake to suppose that, because the head of a hummingbird is small, its brain is too little to count, for actually these birds have brains nearly three times as large as human brains in proportion to the size of their bodies. The brain of a hummingbird is approximately one-twelfth its body weight, while human beings have brains about one-thirty-sixth of their weight. Hummingbirds are the only birds that can fly forward and backward at will.
