

Wright Dorothy Honored At Ranch Home Sunday

By BOOTS CHAMPION

Last weekend the Barley Ranch in Central Oregon was the scene of a surprise birthday party, honoring Wright Dorothy, who was 78 years young on Saturday.

The ranch owned by the Wiganda family, and managed by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dorothy, and Ted's father Wright Dorothy is a center attraction to many of the Dorothy friends.

Nestled in the rolling hills and laced by the silvery Crooked river, and its tributaries the picturesque old ranch is outstanding.

Those attending the party from Mill City were Mr. and Mrs. Gale Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Alford Stahlman, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Champion of Detroit.

On Sunday the group enjoyed a lovely trout dinner. For this treat we salute fisherman Kenneth Harris and Alford Stahlman for their fine catch.

Stahlman held top honors when he landed a trout weighing 4 lbs. and measuring 19½ inches.

Other guests calling at the ranch on Sunday were Pat and Slim Wells of Post. Mr. Dorothy Sr. intended to leave on Thursday, to visit relatives and friends in Wyoming, and western Iowa.

Now They've Electrified Everything!

New applications of electricity to household and farm use have made the business of everyday living continually easier through the years, from such major projects as mass milking operations, to things as simple as toasting a piece of bread. Now they've even electrified the kitchen cabinet itself. A new fixture called a "totalite," which fits in the base of these unusually-styled glass-door "pantryettes," has a two-way fluorescent light, and convenient electrical outlets to plug in the toaster, coffee-maker or electric mixer. The light illuminates both counter-top below, and the interior of the "pantryette."
