

YOUR HIGHWAYS by JAY SCOTT

(No. 8 of a series)

Eternal vigilance, every school-boy knows, is the price of Liberty. Eternal vigilance is also the price of good highways. Proper and regular maintenance is the most important factor in road life.

There's No Such thing as a permanent road. A highway is a piece of construction, like a house or any other building; if you fail to watch it constantly, if you fail to make those repairs necessitated by weather and wear, you're in trouble!

The Surface of a road serves as an umbrella. That is to say, it pro-TECTS the foundation and sub-grade; it screens off the water, which strikes in the form of rain, sleet and snow. Thus, the foundation cannot be attacked directly.

The Cost of maintaining each mile of a 20-foot wide, cement concrete highway may run from $275 to $550 per mile per year. If the road is a bituminous mix, it will average $575 a mile per year, and if untreated gravel, the price may average $875 per mile per year.

This Sounds High to the average citizen, of course. But consider this: the original cost of a cement road is estimated at $35,000 per mile. If you owned a house worth $35,000 would you consider an annual maintenance cost of $275 to $550 as high?

Keeping Roads in good condition, apparently, is an excellent investment.

LYONS

Approximately 175 people attended the annual Linn county livestock association picnic Sunday in the Jordan community.

Dinner was followed by instrumental music by Glee Dea Duman, Ruthann Phillips, Mildred Walker and Virgil Rogers.

Jim Elings, OSC livestock specialist, talked on dwarfism which is prevalent among all breeds of cattle. He conducted the dwarfism demonstration by using an instrument called the profilometer on a calf exhibited by Fred Robertson.

A tour was made with O. E. Mikezell, Linn county extension agent, in charge of irrigated pastures and an inspection of livestock barn and equipment.

Norman Studnick of Jordan won the prize in the bull grading contest. It was a grand opportunity for people to see a large herd of fine registered polled Herefords.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner, Billie and Bobbie, from Olympia, Wash., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Smith. Wagner and Smith were buddies in the navy.

Rev. and Mrs. Nixon from Shedd visited in Lyons Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Heineck of Aumsville was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bassett,

Knowledge is Power

1. HOW CAN YOU PUT CHRIST BACK INTO CHRISTMAS?
2. ARE FOOD PRICES REALLY SO HIGH?
3. DO DRINKING AND SMOKING AFFECT YOUR WEIGHT?

(1) Last year a group of volunteers succeeded in changing the emphasis on Christmas to something approaching its original meaning. How the community did it is detailed by Alice Collins Hamm in the November Catholic Digest. The committee's suggestions for the family were these: "Read the first-Christmas story from the Bible to the children. Have a family Christmas crib. Go to church on Christmas day. As a family, do some special works of charity and friendliness at Christmas."

(2) Maria Sermolino seems to think so, and with good reason. In her book, "Papa's Table d'Hote," she describes his Gonfarone's restaurant in New York some 40 years ago, and lists prices he paid for meat and vegetables. Gonfarone's customers paid 50 cents for a seven-course dinner, but wholesale foodstuff prices were low, too. Tenderloin of beef cost seven cents a pound; chicken, nine cents; lamb, eight cents. A barrel of onions cost $1.50, and a bushel of tomatoes was 40 cents!

(3) Smoking and alcohol can retard gains, Ruth Leverton maintains in her book, "Food Becomes You." If you want to gain weight, "smoke and drink after you eat, if at all," she advises. "When you use them for a pickup between meals or before meals, they satisfy your hunger and you lose interest in food."

and with Mrs. Bassett attended the Rebekah district convention at Scio.

No Sunday school and church will be held next Sunday, June 21, at the Methodist church as this is conference Sunday. Conference will be held in Salem June 16-21, at the First Methodist church.

The regular meeting of Faith Rebekah lodge was held Wednesday evening with Jean Roberts, noble grand and Garnett Bassett, vice grand presiding.

Doris Kelly was installed as outside guardian to replace Lucille Huber who resigned.

Entertainment was in charge of Mildred Carr who gave a reading. Mrs. Fred Duffy of Mill City and Mrs. Kenneth Morris of Prineville were guests of the evening.

Refreshments were served by Bonnie Wagner, Doris Kelly and Hazel Lewis.

The Home Economics club of the Santiam Valley grange held its meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Elaine Russell in the Elkhorn district.

Attending the meeting were Leora Stevens, Rose Coffman, Garnett Bassett, Elizabeth Taylor, Celene Taylor, Mable Bass, Anna B. Julian, and Mae Patton.

Laura Neal and Ann Pietrok were hostesses for the meeting of the Lyons Garden club held at the Rebekah hall Wednesday afternoon. Agnes Brotherton was elected president; Gertrude Weidman, vice president, and Jacquie Smith, secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Orr and sons from Seattle, Wash., visited his mother, Mrs. Willard Hartnell.

Friday completed the two weeks of Bible school at the Community Presbyterian church in Mehama, with a program in the evening with 58 children enrolled.

Teachers of the pre-school were Mrs. Dorothy Christenson and Mrs. Hattie Golliet, with 23 enrolled. Helpers were Rose Coffman, Alameda Coffman, Mrs. Gene Cole, Mrs. Merle Teeters, Mrs. Violet Wagner, Mrs. Helen Callahan, Mrs. Joyce Longfellow and Mrs. Nita Brown.

Primary teachers were Mrs. Eula Monroe and Mrs. Florence Roten. Helpers were Mrs. Pauline Goodman, Mrs. Dorothy Duncan and Judy Monroe. Rev. Streeter was teacher for
