His letter appears in part: "It appears that there has been a change in the editorial staff, that I was not aware of. You see I missed several papers during my changing around from pillars to posts as the saying goes. It has been hot as hades here in New York these last few days and during the Shriners convention the heat wave never let up but blasted the men in their fine uniforms so that they were wet and wilted by the time they finished their grand parade and everyone who was watching them pass by was also wet and wilted. All of the cold drink stands was sold out of supplies, so most of us went home with a dry throat, that is to the local district where I got refreshed."

Hugh Walkup of Salem visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Walkup of this city, several days last week.

Donald Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Howe, and Donald Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Hutchinson, is attending Boys Ninety-Nine camp at Turner this week. This camp is under the auspices of the First Christian church.
