Registers 99 Here Mon.

Mill City High School had registered 99 students by the end of the first day of classes, according to Howard L. Means, principal. This compares with the registration of 110 students last year, however, it is expected there will be some late registrations this year due to the lateness of crops. The high school enrollment will probably reach 110 in a couple of weeks.

A printed handbook was issued to all students in high school. This small booklet with an attractive yellow and green cover, contains 29 pages of "customs, regulations, requirements,

Sam Bridges of Lyons, who suffered second and third degree burns about the face and body in a propane gas explosion at his home Thursday evening, is still in serious condition at Santiam Memorial hospital in Stay-

The home was completely destroy-ed with the office and display room being badly scorched.

The family was preparing to go out for dinner, when a neighbor reported gas was leaking from the propane tanker parked in the driveway. Mr. Bridges with the three children, Johnie, Buddie and ZoAnn, returned in the pickup and as he attempted to shut off the gas the explosion occurred. They believe the blast was set off by a spark from the pilot light in the clothes dryer in the garage. All three children were also burned in the blast but are recovering satisfactor-

Fiames from the tanker shot across the highway, starting a fire at the Percy Hiatt place, searing shrubs and the garage. Firemen from Mill City, the Forest Service, Stayton, and nearby mills rushed to the scene and succeeded in saving much of the home furnishings.

The Bridges family has lived in Lyons for about 12 years and he has been agent for the Propane Gas Co., for five years.

Mrs. Bridges and three other children escaped with minor injuries. She stated that the business was re-opened in temporary quarters.
