More Savings Bonds Being Sold in Oregon This Year

Sales bonds sales records in Oregon topped again as men and women throughout the state continued to support their government's sound money program by purchasing 30 per cent more E and H savings bonds this February than for the same month a year ago.
Sales of series H bonds were more than double those of February a year ago, indicating that more and more people are beginning to realize the attractiveness of this investment.
This increase of 30 per cent compares with a national sales increase of 16 per cent over February of 1953, according to Bruce W. Williams, county chairman.
"Total purchases made during the month came to $3,100,936," Williams said. "Sales for January and February of this year were $6,699,880, exceeding purchases for those two months last year by $1,687,500."
February sales for Marion county amounted to $201,534, and $73,301 in Linn county," Williams added.
In discussing national aspects of the savings bond program, Williams said, "More than 37 billion in series E and H bonds are still held by the American people. This represents an increase of $366 million above the amount outstanding at the end of last year."
