YOUR LIFE
INSURANCE...

Consider the problem of this widow: Her husband owned $4, 000.00 of life insurance which she had thought would be quite enough. She didn't realize that a death generally causes heavy expenses.

Within a few months after her husband's death she had to pay the following bills: hospital and nurse, $210; doctor bills, including an operation $240; final expenses including the funeral, $900. The total was $1,350. After paying these bills, she had only $2,650 left.

The thoughtful husband who wants his wife to have his present insurance for her own use and support should take a policy for the "clearance fund"—$1000, $1,500, $2,000, or more. Then she won't have to pay his bills out of the money he intended for her and which she will need so much.
