LYONS

By Eva Bressler

Ruth Lyons was hostess for the afternoon card club with her party held at the Catholic community hall Wednesday afternoon. A 1:30 dessert luncheon was served followed by several tables of 500. High score was held by Eulalia Lyons, second high by Leoa Johnson, and low by Carrie Naue. Others attending were Bertha Allen, Mabel Downing, Leota Worden, Margaret Kunkle, Garnett Bassett, Millie Aronson, Berneice Bridges, Wilma Free, Alma Olmstead, Thelma Nydegger, Donna Assmusen, Blanche Syverson, Theresa Ransom and the hostess, Ruth Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott and Mr. and Mrs. David Scott of Salem were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dye spent several days in Portland, returning home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Toman and sons, Steven and Bradley of Salem, were Sunday guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thoma of Lebanon visited Sunday evening at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hiatt. Their mother, Mrs. Martha Hiatt, who has spent some time at the Hiatt home, returned to Lebanon with the Thoma's for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christenson, Duane and SueAnn have moved to the Martha Hiatt house between Lyons and Mehama. They plan to sell their small house in town.

John Kinzer, who suffered a stroke at his home Wednesday evening was taken Friday evening to a nursing home in Lebanon. He will be 80 years old in April.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reeves of Portland were Friday afternoon and evening guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hiatt, and Mrs. Cora Jenner.

Vernon Diggerness from Anchorage, Alaska, spent Thursday night at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Huffman, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hubbard. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Diggerness of Williston, N. D. were Friday dinner guests at the Huffman home. He returned with them to catch a plane back to Anchorage, Friday evening.

Mrs. Evelyn Julian was hostess for the meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service, held in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon. Ethel Huffman presided over the business meeting due to the absence of the president, Evelyn Sexton. A general discussion was held and various plans made. Saturday, November 19, is the date set for the Tamale sale, which will be held at the church. Also a coffee will be held at the home of Martha Cruson Thursday morning, November 10, a benefit for the Methodist home. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served and those attending were Ethel Huffman, Jacquie Smith, Alice Huber, Inez Ring, Doris Roy, Eleanor Smith, Naomi IntVeld, Eva Bressler, Alta Bodeker, Martha Cruson, Reta Cruson, Orpha Royce, and Evelyn Julian.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens returned home from a vacation trip to Sheridan, Wyo., where they visited relatives. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kelly, returned home with them. Mrs. E. L. Royce went to Cottage Grove Thursday where she will visit relatives for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Julian from Auburn, Wash., were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Julian. While here they visited the Albert Julians at Scio and at the Joe Johnson home in Albany. Mrs. Edward Cruson is spending this week in Portland with relatives.

It All Comes From the Soil

IT FILLS a person with awe to walk down New York's Wall Street, or to ride the elevator in the Empire State Building. The size of things and the surrounding feeling of wealth is overwhelming. But just think! The soil is our only source of replaceable wealth.

And who coaxes that wealth from the soil . . . prepares the land . . . selects and plants the seeds . . . cultivates the growing crops . . . and reaps the abundant harvests of food and fiber?

The farmer, of course!

Clothing worn by people who work in the city's buildings . . . big and little . . . is produced by farmers. So is the food these people eat. The farmer furnishes many of them their jobs, too . . . for they earn their living by processing or handling products of the soil.

In daily contacts with the soil—our major source of primary wealth—the farmer asks only his fair share of the total income. He's a neighborly sort of a fellow who enjoys working with other farmers. Because he must spend so much of his time coaxing wealth from the soil, he doesn't have time to properly market his products or to obtain his essential production supplies. But by joining with his neighbors, he has developed democratic associations to do these jobs for him. Through his associations, the farmer gets more and better food and clothing to the city worker at lower cost. These associations are farmer cooperatives.

Farmer cooperatives are a vital part of the farmer's over-all production operations. They help him to do a better job for himself . . . for his neighbors . . . and for those who consume his products.
