Huge Sum Asked In Damage Suit

DETROIT—Three Detroit area residents were named as defendants in a double damage action which asks more than $100,000 for injuries allegedly suffered in a highway accident near Marion Fork September 4.

Two Eugene area women, Lela Hopkins and a step-daughter-in-law, Aladean Hopkins, filed separate complaints in Marion County Circuit Court. They each charged negligence on the part of defendants Hilma E. Dickie, Arlie L. Dickie, and Francis Joseph Johnson.

Lela Hopkins, driver of a car involved in the collision, asked $53,000 general damages, $3,150 special damages and $2,500 loss of wages. Aladean Hopkins, riding with the other woman at the time of the accident, asked $45,000 general damages, $2,795 special damages, and $750 loss of wages.

The complaints allege that Johnson was negligent while driving the other vehicle involved. It was further alleged that the car was owned by the Dickie couple.

The two complaints both claimed severe injuries were suffered in the accident.
