Final rites were held in the chapel of Mt. Scott Funeral Home in Portland for Mrs. Martha Sarver, 91, late resident of Dallas. Interment was at Rose City cemetery. She is survived by daughter, Mrs. Esther Fouts, formerly of Idanha and now residing at Lebanon, and several other sons and daughters, names not known here. Attending the service from here were Mrs. Gudne Geston and Mrs. Len Davis, Idanha.

Mr. and Mrs. John Estey and granddaughters, Donna and Linda Brown spent two days in Salem last week, and were joined on Thursday by Mr. Estey's sisters, Mrs. Ethel Brown of Longview, Wash., Mrs. Gladys Montgomery and Mrs. Marie Bones of Ocean Lake.

Oregon Traffic Has Killed 121 People in State This Year

Oregon traffic has killed 121 people so far this year, a toll just four below the count for the same period last year.

Thirty-two deaths in April were reported by the Oregon Traffic Safety Commission. This figure, however, is subject to upward revision if delayed reports are received.

The month-by-month death toll now shows 27 deaths in January, February; 34, March; and 32, April.

The Commission said the state is now entering the "crucial" period of the year when highways become swollen with vacation traffic.

Oregon has again joined a nationwide drive called "Slow Down and Live" in an effort to reduce summer traffic accidents and deaths. The campaign stressing the "in a hurry" complex which leads many drivers into traffic trouble, will be launched May 30 and extend through Labor Day.

Last year, Oregon was one of the few states to effect a traffic death reduction during the Slow Down and Live campaign period.
