Mrs. Jull Is Hostess for Women's Council Meeting

Mrs. Hugh Jull was hostess at her home Wednesday afternoon for the June meeting of the Women's Council of the Christian church. Mrs. Elsie Myers presided at the business meeting and also led the devotions for the afternoon. It was decided to hold the annual bazaar the first part of November. A dish towel shower for the church kitchen will be held at the July meeting, which will be a potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. Myers. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Floyd Shepherd.

Present were Meses. Elsie Myers, B. A. Lawrence, Rowen, of Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif.; E. K. Fish, Lowell Cree, Herbert Whitaker, Glen Shelton, Ralph Jull, William Shepherd, Arthur Hedge, Floyd Shepherd and Hugh Jull.

Mrs. Albert Toman Tells of Mid-West Trip

Mrs. Albert Toman returned last week from a three-weeks vacation which was spent in Minnesota and Illinois. While in Illinois she visited the area which was devastated by the recent flood in that area which did extensive damage to both the business and residential areas. The air is still stagnant from the flood waters. She said there was only one real hot day during her stay in Minneapolis, and for the most part the weather was cool and cloudy. During her Minneapolis stay they had been warned of an impending tornado. There were black clouds overhead but no "funnel" in the cloud was formed so the area was spared.

She visited Lincoln's home and tomb and also went to New Salem, where she saw a replica of the town as it was when Lincoln lived there. "It was really interesting," said Mrs. Toman.

On commenting on the country, she said she was very glad to be back in Oregon. She was accompanied on the trip by her granddaughter, Lynn Robison.

Parents Should Have School Children Checked Soon

Parents should obtain complete physical and dental examinations as soon as possible for all children entering school for the first time this fall, the state board of health announced Saturday.

Early examinations are necessary to allow time for complete immunization schedules and any corrective work which is indicated, according to Dr. Harold M. Erickson, state health officer.

Dr. Erickson explained that Oregon school authorities require records of such medical and dental examinations at a child's first registration. He also reminded parents that many school districts ask parents for copies of birth certificates for all new admissions.

Birth registration cards may be secured by sending one dollar to the state board of health, room 979, Portland state office building. Although the board of health recommends birth registration cards for such purposes, complete photostatic copies of birth certificates may be obtained for two dollars.

Information accompanying requests should include the full name of the child and parents, and the date and place of birth.

So long as the only test of a man's worth is the size of his bank account, the world will lack much of being an ideal state.

Mill City Residents Plan To Attend Convention

A number of Mill City people plan to attend the 109th annual convention of the Oregon Christian churches, which will be held at the Turner Memorial Tabernacle at Turner. The meetings start Tuesday evening and close Saturday evening. The theme for the convention this year will be "The Love of God Made Perfect."

Among those who will speak during the convention are the Rev. Dr. George R. Davis of Wichita Falls, Texas; Dr. Orval W. Peterson of St. Louis, Mo.; Rev. Fred Sawyer of Indianapolis, Ind.; and missionaries to the Belgian Congo and Japan. The Rev. Ellsworth Lewis and Mrs. Isobel Dittmore will also tell of their experiences.

John Swan and George Stewart went to Roseburg Thursday to attend the Eagles convention. While there they visited Rev. Ray, former Presbyterian minister here, who is now 83 years old and still is active in church work. Rev. Ray wanted to be remembered to his friends here and especially to Lowell Fleetwood, who used to accompany him on trips around the area when Buzz was a little fellow.

Study Drivers' Book Before Taking Test

It pays to know the law before attempting to get a driver's license in Oregon, just as it pays to obey the law in order to keep the license, the Oregon Traffic Safety Commission commented today.

As a matter of fact, failure to pass the rules of the road test, the written portion of the Oregon exam for a license, flunked almost as many first-time applicants last year as the actual behind the wheel driving test, according to Department of Motor Vehicles figures.

The department reported that 10,843 of the 60,895 first-time applicants failed to pass the rules of the road test in 1956 on their first try. Another 14,485 flunked the behind the wheel exam. Most were successful on subsequent attempts, the Department said.

The high number of failures, especially when a passing grade of 75 of the road test, clearly shows that too many people fail to study the driver's manual before they take the test, the Commission said.

This is especially true of people who may have held licenses in other states and thus assume they can pass the Oregon test without study.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse for violation, especially in view of the fact that failure to obey laws is noted in about 90 percent of all Oregon accidents, the safety group concluded.

Hard work still represents the main essential of success in life.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bevier and son, Jim, went to Foster Sunday where they visited their son and brother, Gary, who is stationed there with the Linn County Fire Patrol. They stated their son, Brian Moffatt and Ron Kuhlman will come home for the Fourth.
