

Up and Down The Avenue

By Don Moffatt

Four years ago this week, The Mill City Enterprise was sold to the present publisher. At that time we came here not knowing anyone, but with a firm desire to become a part of this community. During the four years spent here we have made many friends and acquaintances up and down the canyon. These people have been good to us and we in turn have tried our best to be good to them. We have continually endeavored to make The Enterprise a better newspaper, keeping it clean in content—a newspaper that can be read by every member of the family.

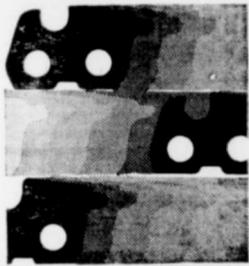

Some new equipment has been added in four years here, and we now have a complete modern printing establishment.

At the time of taking over the business we were grateful then as we are now for the many courtesies shown us. As we start our fifth year of newspapering in the area, we look forward to many more years to come of working with the people here. Thank you again for your cooperation.

The following little article was prepared for publication prior to the nice weather we have been experiencing during the past week or so, but it may give you a laugh or two.

Seems most of us do considerable yapping about the weather, but of course we can't do anything about it at all, only hope that the sun will shine so we can burn the moss, that has accumulated on our backs, off before fall sets in again.

We were reading one of the daily

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. MacGregor went to Bonneville Sunday to visit friends.

Jack Oliver of Gates, is employed at Detroit dam at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Tex Blazek are spending the week fishing at Diamond Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Plymale and three children of Lebanon were visitors in Mill City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Toman and children of Salem, spent the weekend here at the Jack Scott home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Budlong and daughters and Harvey Meacham of Happy Camp, Calif., are spending the week at their Mill City homes.

Mr. and Mrs. George Veteto spent Saturday night in Canby with relatives. On Sunday they went to Corvallis to visit other relatives and to take in the celebration there.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Duggan are the proud parents of a son weighing 7 pounds, 4 ounces, born to them June 21 at a Salem hospital. This is the first son for the Duggans, who have two daughters. The new arrival has been named Chris.

Newspapers just recently and came across something I think might be interesting reading to the subscribers of The Enterprise. Here 'tis for what it's worth:

Dirty days hath September,
April, June and November,
From January up to May,
The rain it raineth every day.
All the rest have thirty-one
Without a blessed glam of sun;
And if any of them had
Two and thirty,
They'd be just as wet
And twice as dirty.

Then perusing another sheet we came across this little gem:

When Mark Twain was editor of a western newspaper, a superstitious subscriber found a spider in his paper and wrote the editor to ask if that was a sign of good or bad luck.

With his usual needle-witted appreciation of the situation, the humorist answered in the following vein:

"Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door and live a life of undisturbed peace ever afterwards."

Now to get back to things at home. Everyone in the area knows that The Enterprise just completed a subscription campaign. This happened during the campaign when some of the young sales girls and boys were in the office One little gal about as big as a minute came to the back of the shop where I was running the linotype. She watched for a little bit, then said: "I think I'd like to marry a newspaperman." Of course I was sort of surprised hearing that statement from so small a lass, so I asked her why. She said: "Oh they're never home." There went my ego all to pieces.

I can't help but be amazed at the ad writers who dish up goop for television commercials. Especially all that tripe about the various and sundry brands of cigarettes. Everyone knows they do you no good, but still smoke them. I know, I puffed on the weed for many, many years. This idea of "exciting flavor, smoother." Wow, I never did find a cigarette that would make me feel like popping my biscuit, but then maybe my reflexes are too slow. I only wish they would change their brand of talk, as it is getting pretty stagnant. Especially the where it tastes good like a cigarette should. Must be a super brand of alfalfa. Oh well, it does pay for the programs we see for free, and if it gets too thick, there is the little dial along side the set that will bring immediate silence.

Rex Ohmart, assistant manager of the Mill City Branch of the U. S. National bank is on his annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayres of Tacoma, Wash., were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. George McConnell of Portland, spent from Friday until Monday here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay R. Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin McDowell and sons of Renton, Wash., spent the weekend at the homes of their parents in Mill City and Fox Valley.

Guests Thursday evening at the Howard Farm home for a patio dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lalack.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Ziebert and daughter, Cindy, spent the weekend at Waldport and Roseburg where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Romey, former residents here.

Mrs. W. J. Robinson spent several days last week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baltimore near Redmond. The Baltimores are former long-time residents here.

Dr. Mark Hammericksen's Optometric offices in the Bell building in Stayton; Thursdays from 1:00 p. m. to 6:00 P. M. No appointments necessary. adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Powelson of Elgin spent a few days in Mill City, Lyons and Gates last week. They are former Mill City residents and came to attend funeral services for Forrest Nydegger.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Toman went to Cheoco park Sunday, where they met Mr. and Art Robison of Spray. Miss Lynn Robison, who had been visiting at the Toman home here, returned to Spray with her parents.

Maurie Bassett went to Corvallis Saturday where he drove in the Centennial parade. Maurie was second place winner in the state Jaycee road-e-o held at McMinnville recently.

Dr. J. W. Reid, who has been on a three-week vacation in the southern states returned to his home here Monday. Mrs. Reid and the two children will remain for another three weeks.

Caathy and Connie Lawrence, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lawrence are confined to their home with the measles. Craig Shaw is also home with a severe outbreak of the same malady.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Goodell and family visited Sunday in Salem at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hunter. The Jerry Hunters recently moved to Salem, from Renton, Wash.

Among those attending the rodeo at Sisters recently, were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walter and daughter, Toni Jo, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gnuschke, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shepherd and Mr. and Mrs. Don Marshall and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Moffatt visited over the weekend at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Frace and daughters at Beaverton. They also called at the Art Redinger home in Gresham Saturday evening.

Mrs. Kenneth Chance and children met Mrs. Bob Biggs (Jane Peterson) of Eugene, and her children in Salem last Wednesday and from there they went to the Kelly cottage at Roads End to spend a few days. Mrs. Chance said the weather was perfect. Mr. Biggs now has his own television show on KVAL Eugene. His program deals with flowers and landscaping.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Puett of Kansas City, Mo., are visiting at the present time with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Toni Marastoni and daughter, Julie at the Last Frontier. On July 9th, Mrs. Marastoni's brother and family of Missouri are expected to arrive for a visit here.

Mrs. Paul Barkley of Corvallis is spending this week as the guest of her parents, the Charles Kellys, while her husband is on a field trip in Eastern Oregon in connection with his work for the US Agricultural department. Four other men are also on the expedition.

Visiting for the past several weeks at the home of Mrs. Lester Mason has been her cousin, Mrs. William Dickson of Prairie City, near LaGrande. They spent three days at Waldport visiting Mrs. Mason's son and family, the Edwin Stones, also attending the night performance of the "baton clinic" in which Sharon Stone participated with the "Shamrocks." Mrs. Mason states she visited with many old-time residents of this area who now make their homes in the vicinity of Waldport. It was also learned that Mrs. Dickson's son, Carl, who worked for a considerable time at Shirley's Beauty shop several years ago, was married last April and has a beauty shop at LaGrande. The father, William Dickson, passed away last February. All are well known here.

Plywood Firm Head Predicts Boom After Lumber Slump Ends

Market difficulties currently plaguing the lumber and plywood business are only temporary in nature and will be followed in a year or two by improvement and an ultimately terrific demand, according to the belief expressed by Owen R. Cheatham, president and chairman of the Georgia-Pacific corporation in an address recently at the closing session of the 52d annual convention of the Oregon Bankers association at the Multnomah hotel.

The speaker looked forward to a period of 20 years hence and forecast that housing starts would boom to 2,000,000 a year to keep up with expanding population and increasing number of families and the 'golden age of Oregon's timber industries' would be realized.

Population Growth Factor Cheatham told the bankers the current demand for plywood is running about 100,000,000 feet a week whereas production capacity is about 115,000,000 feet. A slight increase in housing or a small lowering of production would correct the bad market situation, he said.

In reviewing the outlook for the future Cheatham said estimates indicate population of the United States will reach 175,000,000 by 1960 and, added to that, the bumper crop of "war babies" will be reaching marriageable age thus boosting the demand for new homes.

The utilization of wood in which great strides have been made in the last 20 years will see further advances in the next two decades, thus adding further to the value of the state's timber products industries, according to Cheatham.

Frank A. (Denny) Sheythe, apprentice petty officer third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Sheythe of Mill City, Oreg., graduated June 12 from Recruit Training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif. Apprentice petty officers are chosen from the ranks of the seaman recruits to assist Company Commanders. The selection is based on individual aptitude and leadership qualities. He is at his home here now on leave.

Upper Canyon Has Many Exhibits at Stayton Show

The Antique and Hobby show sponsored by the Santiam Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was fairly well attended June 29 and 30 at the Stayton Civic building. While most of the antiques shown were from the upper canyon, most of the hobbies were from the Stayton area.

A Portland dealer had some antiques for sale.

The committee thanks all those who cooperated in the event, but feel that more people could have attended, as well as exhibited their antiques or hobbies to make it more successful.

Little League Dumps Stayton 8 to 1 Friday

Terry Morris, Mill City's No. 1 pitcher for the little league held Stayton to three hits (all by Miller the catcher) and struck out 11 to hold Stayton to one run in Friday's game.

Leading the Mill City attack at the plate was Dubby Stewart with 3 for 4 and with 4 runs batted in. Walt Olmstead, Mill City short stop connected with a homer to bring in one run and himself for 2 RBI and Luther Nicholson hit a solid base hit to get the other 2 RBIs.

Mill City's next game is the 4th at 7:30 just before the fireworks.

Charles Kelly's Return From Lions Conventions

The Charles Kellys returned Sunday from a 12-day vacation trip during which they attended the Lions Club state convention in Medford and the International Lions Club convention in San Francisco, Calif. Reservations for them were made in Oakland so they commuted by train or car each day across the bay bridge.

Highlights of the convention were a boat-trip around San Francisco Bay, a ride on the famous cable car, and other sight-seeing trips. The opening session and two evening shows were held in the huge "cow palace," down the peninsula from San Francisco. Kelly heard talks by Gen. Carlos Romulo, Ambassador from the Philippines, and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Mrs. Kelly attended a fashion-show at the Fairmont Hotel, with gowns shown by Joseph Magnin's of San Francisco. Beautiful girls modeled creations with price-tags up to $198.95.

While in the city, the Kellys spent an evening going out to dinner with E. C. (Brandy) Brandeberry, who was connected with the Hammond Lumber Co. office here a number of years ago. He is now a partner in the A & B lumber company, with offices on Market street.

A number of the delegates from the Medford convention were hit by an attack of food poisoning following the award luncheon on Saturday, June 22, the final day of the convention and the only meal which all the men and women attended. In fact, several were hospitalized for a few days, one man from Salem spending a week in a hospital at San Francisco.

Mrs. R. L. Faust is in a serious condition at the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland following several days' hospitalization in Albany as the result of a painful illness affecting her leg. It has not been determined whether the condition is the result of a stroke or a heart attack a number of months ago. Mrs. Homer Thacker and two sons, who recently moved to Happy Camp, Calif., drove to Mill City Tuesday due to her mother's illness. Mr. Faust has been staying in Albany with another daughter, Mrs. Bob Trask.
