Rock Cutting Plant Is New Industry Located at Idanha

By Jessie Savage
IDANHA—A new business, the Sunbeam Rock Co., has started at Boulder Creek near Idanha. The mill men, owners and operators of the mill are John Young, Harold Hills, Ted and Larry Geck. The men built most of the machinery they use to cut rock that it brought in from a rock quarry near Boulder Creek. The rock is hauled to the mill in chunks.

It is then placed on a carriage just like those used in a sawmill. It is then run through a special saw which cuts the rock into 2, 4 and 7-inch slabs. Another machine breaks it up into four-inch brick. The rock is all colors of the rainbow and will be used for veneer on the outside of buildings, fireplaces, and many other building uses. The rock will not crack or freeze and when given a coat of shellac is a beautiful building material.

The rock is "volcanic tuff" and consists of half volcanic ash and half pumice rock.

The upper canyon is one of the most beautiful places in which to live and any business that will help build up the community is welcomed by all.

Mr. Young is from Portland; Mr. Hills lives in Detroit and Larry and Ted Geck are from Mt. Angel.

Summer Rec Program To End This Friday

The summer recreation program will end Friday, according to Gleason Eakin, who was in charge this year. It has been a successful program according to Coach Eakin, with about 80 youngsters participating in baseball. The Mill City teams have averaged playing other towns two games a week. The younger boys, including boys up to 10 years of age, have played eight games. They won five and lost three. The age group 10 through 12 has played five games, winning all encounters. The 13, 14 and 15-year-olds have played four games winning two and losing two. The high school age group played four games also splitting two and two. There has also been games between the local teams.

The tennis program did not receive nearly the participation or enthusiasm that was anticipated, although there were about 20 youngsters active in this phase of the program.

There were four teen-age dances sponsored through the summer program that proved successful with approximately 75 youngsters being present at each dance. The high school cheerleaders for the coming year charged a small admission, had a cake walk and furnished refreshments at each dance. The proceeds will be used to help the girls purchase uniforms.

United Fund Tells How Money Is Used

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles released by the United Fund, telling something of how the money is used by the various member agencies.

Cascade Area Council, Boy Scouts of America is a member agency of Marion County United Fund and is included in the budget of the approaching campaign for $6,536.99.

The Council operates as a service station to more than 5,000 boys in 175 units throughout the central Willamette Valley region comprising Marion, Polk, and Linn counties. In accordance with their National Charter, it is the responsibility of the local council to train the maximum number of boys in character and those qualities that make for good citizenship.

To this end the Council provides the service of skilled technicians; produces needed visual aids, literature, training opportunities, round-tables for program planning, camping facilities, stimulating activities, advancement procedures, public relations interpretations, and numerous other tools and values to help strengthen the hand of the chartered institutions and of the volunteer adults who lead Scouting in those institutions.

The service of planning, guidance, and help is provided by a staff of trained full-time men. Each of these men, scout executives and assistants, works with an average of 417 volunteer adults who influence the growth of approximately 1,278 boys through Scouting activities. The professional man shares his know-how, his understanding, and his skill with this large group of volunteers and thus helps Scouting come alive in the experience of many hundreds of boys. During the past seven years, the number of boys and volunteers in Scouting has more than doubled, but the professional staff has remained the same in the Cascade Area Council.

The immediate need is for increased funds to provide adequate professional staff, program and camping facilities to effectively serve not only the present boys and leaders, but also the vast numbers of new boys who are steadily marching into Scouting's age range.

The new Scout Center located in Salem will open September 15, to provide service to the field with increased efficiency and economy of operation.

Chief Phone Operator On First Paid Vacation

Gladys Mason, chief operator at the telephone office, is off duty this week which is her first paid vacation in 38 years of service. Her loyalty to the job often calls for services "over and beyond the call of duty," and is greatly appreciated by the community as a whole.

As her husband is not on vacation, Mrs. Mason is limiting her excursions to short trips near home, hoping to make a more extended trip to visit relatives near Baker sometime this fall.

Mrs. Georgene Christian is taking the night shift at the telephone office during Mrs. Mason's absence. Other regular operators include Margaret Rush (Mrs. Claire) of Gates, Marie Day (Mrs. Charlie), and Jane Richards (Mrs. Eugene).

Although any community likes to "go along with the times," the friendly voices and helpfulness of these efficient "hello girls" will be missed when the dial system is put into use.

The following story in the Capital Journal, Salem is about the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lalack. Andy lived in Mill City at one time with his parents. The story is reprinted below:

"Winning a trophy or medal for excellence in competition is a 'once-in-a-lifetime' experience for most people. A good many never get the chance to know what it feels like.

"Two young Salem girls are in just the opposite 'predicament.' They have been capturing so many prizes that the feeling is not an unusual one at all anymore.

"Their names are Sandy and Candy Lalack. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lalack Jr., 835 Vosburg Ave. It is in the field of baton twirling where they shine.

"Between them, Sandy 10, and Candy 9, have won a total of 17 trophies and 25 medals during the past year and a half. One doesn't have to be a baton twirler to recognize the significance of these feats.

"The girls have not just 'stayed around home' to accumulate their awards. They are well-traveled and have competed against the best in their field of activity.

"Their most recent accomplishment is the one of which they are the most proud. On a just-completed three-week tour of the Midwest, Sandy and Candy brought back a national championship trophy. It was won at Milwaukee, Wis., in the junior duet competition.

"On this three-week trip the two girls made several other stops too. In all they returned to Salem with six trophies and 14 medals which they
