Sound Advice

Never use drugs left over from a serious illness for self-treatment of a similar ailment. You see, modern drugs are highly potent—that's why we dispense them only when your physician prescribes. If you dose yourself with leftovers, you may do serious damage. It's a good idea to pour the remains of old prescriptions down the drain and destroy the bottles.

Timber Volume Of Forests Show Large Increase

"The board-foot volume of timber sold from the 19 national forests in Oregon and Washington in 1958 is more than three times what it was eight years ago and more than twice what it was just four years ago" said Regional Forester J. Herbert Stone in announcing a new record for timber sales and timber cut in the Pacific Northwest Region on the U. S. Forest Service. During calendar year 1958 the volume of timber sold reached the new alltime high of 4.371 billion board-feet.

Sales in 1958 were 1.663 billion board-feet greater than in calendar year 1957 and 1.504 billion greater than the sales in 1956, the previous record calendar year.

"The amount of timber sold should not be confused with the amount cut," Stone said. "Recently the amount of timber actually cut under various sales contracts has lagged behind the amount of timber sold." The volume of timber cut during 1958 was 3.099 billion board-feet. However, this was an increase in cut of 589 million and 365 million over the calendar years 1957 and 1956, respectively.

While the volume was going up, average value per thousand board-feet decreased. The increased volumes of timber cut and sold, however, were sufficient to keep the total value of timber cut and that sold above the totals for calendar year 1957. Total value of timber sold was $62,277,801 which was an average rate of $14.25 per thousand board-feet. The values of the timber actually cut was $57,205,511 with the average stumpage rate at $18.46 per thousand board-feet. In 1957 timber sales amounted to $48,854,143 at an average stumpage rate of $18.04 and the value of timber cut was $55,374,395 at an average of $22.06 per thousand board-feet.

Of the 12 national forests in Oregon the three doing the largest volume of business were the Willamette, with 669 million of board-feet of timber sold and 477 million board-feet cut; the Mt. Hood, with sales of 430 million board-feet and a cut of 290 million; and the Siuslaw with 332 million of sales and 255 million cut. Gifford Pinchot National Forest led the six national forests in the State of Washington with sales of 488 million board-feet and a cut of 262 million. The Olympic was second with 287 million board-feet sold and 269 million board-feet cut.

Said Stone, "The total year's accomplishment on the Mt. Hood and Gifford Pinchot National Forests in Oregon and Washington, respectively, is of particular interest, since these two national forests were subjected to considerable criticism for falling behind their planned sales program earlier in the year. Mt. Hood's sales were 119 million board-feet greater than its allowable annual cut of 311.3 million board-feet and sales in the Gifford Pinchot National Forest exceeded its allowable cut by 93 million board-feet.
