When we wrote about the addition that the Wendell Hellers are putting onto their house recently, we sort of cut it down in size. They are adding two bedrooms and a bath, instead of one bedroom. The work has been progressing well in between showers on Woody's construction job.

The Ministerial Association of Mill City will again sponsor the collection for UNICEF this Halloween. Youngsters of the community will assist in this worthy project, instead of the usual "trick or treat" for candy. However, some of the small fry most likely will still be appearing in eerie costumes with their candy sacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Hedge and family visited recently in the John Day area. They were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bryant and family, former residents of Mill City. They also did some hunting with Bill Hedge getting a nice 3 point deer. Art was on his annual vacation from his duties with the city street department.

Joe Lalack and Howard Farmer were in Toledo last weekend and got in some salmon fishing with Melvin LaVine. They fished in the tidewaters and had good luck, each bringing home a nice salmon. Joe caught one that weighed 25 pounds. Howard's weighed 29 pounds and LaVine got the big one, which pushed the scales to 31 pounds.

The morning circle of the Presbyterian church held their monthly meeting at Fellowship hall Thursday morning. A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Mel Rambo. The Round Robin Pinochle club met at the home of Mrs. Leo Poole Monday evening with the hostess serving dessert preceding the card playing. Winning both high and pinochle was Mrs. John Muir, with Mrs. Don Carlson receiving low prize. Guests were Mrs. Jack Duggan, Mrs. Charley Stewart and Mrs. James Poole. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. John D. MacGregor.

More Power To Be Available

New hydroelectric supplies ample to meet the load growth of the Pacific Power & Light Company system will soon begin moving into Oregon over large capacity transmission lines now nearing completion as part of a record expansion of PP&L's electric facilities.

The large capacity circuits for the delivery of big blocks of energy into the state provide links between power projects recently completed by the company on the Lewis River in Washington and those under construction on the Columbia River and elsewhere by other utilities in the Northwest Power Pool, according to D. R. McClung, PP&L president.

The big blocks of new power will meet the system's needs for five years, he said.

Additional power projects to meet the needs of the Pacific Power customers in years beyond that period are actively being investigated, the company official reported in a brief review of PP&L's program.

The major projects in the current construction include 230,000-volt, 115,000-volt and 69,000-volt transmission lines and large substations and switchyards to serve PP&L load centers in Washington and Oregon, and also bring the new power supplies toward the company's transmission system interconnections with the regional pool.

Already completed is a 39-mile-long 230,000-volt line which will bring energy from the huge Priest Rapids project on the Columbia River into the company's system this fall at a large substation built in Yakima, Wash.

"Pacific Power will be the largest distributor of power generated on the main Columbia at Priest Rapids and its companion Wanapum development," McClung reported. He said PP&L ultimately will receive 566,500 kilowatts of the total generator capacity installed at the two big projects. Other new lines will rein-

The CWF of the Christian church will meet Wednesday, October 28 at 10 a. m. for an all-work meeting at the church. The day will be spent working on articles for the bazaar. A potluck dinner will be served at noon followed by a business meeting and a short devotional period.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorpe and children Linda and Ricky, Mrs. Lowell Fleetwood and Laura Jo Rambo were in Portland Saturday. Mrs. Fleetwood and the Thorpes, along with other teachers attended an educational conference. The youngsters went to the zoo, the museum of natural science and to a show.

force the system throughout Oregon.

"Pacific Power's new transmission and substation work represents a record one-year expansion of the company's service installations," McClung said.

"This work follows a year in which Pacific Power's own program development has more than doubled the company's total system generating capacity, and a year in which all the utilities in the Northwest also have been co-operating in an all-time record expansion of the region's hydroelectric system," he added.

Too much frost on the freezing unit of the refrigerator can be caused by an air leak in the door, by leaving foods uncovered, by incomplete defrosting, or by setting the temperature control too cold.

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS

TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.
