Why all the red tape?

You can understand why we don't sell narcotics without a physician's prescription. But maybe you've wondered why we're so fussy about other things... like penicillin, sleeping pills, the new tranquilizers. These potent medications are called "legend drugs" and you have to have a prescription to get them. Reason: Uncontrolled use may do more harm than good. Only your physician knows whether you should use them or not—and, if so, just how much. So we require a prescription. It's a matter of professional ethics and the law. Always it's common sense.

P. T. A. Program and Ham Dinner Most Successful Event Staged for Years

One of the most successful events put on in recent years by the Mill City-Gates PTA was held Thursday evening at the Grade school gymnasium, when over 320 people were served at the ham dinner.

The dinner and carnival was not only a success financially and gastronomically, but was enjoyed to fullest extent by the large crowd attending.

Mrs. Albin Cooper, ways and means chairman and general chairman of the affair, stated that a profit of $393.67 was realized.

Space does not permit listing everyone who gave so generously of their time and efforts in making the affair a success, but the wonderful response will in a measure help repay them for their work.

Chairmen of the various committees included: food, Mrs. Wendell Heller; serving, Mrs. James Gordon, with a group of Rainbow girls in Hawaiian costumes assisting; clean-up, Mrs. Donald Farrier; program, Mrs. James Putman, assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Brent, Mrs. James Wright, Mrs. Lee Ross and Mrs. Bill Truitt; ticket sales, Mrs.

Harold Simes; publicity, Mrs. Robert Veness and Mrs. Robert Blumenstein.

Theme for the affair was Statehood—Alaska and Hawaii with Mrs. Al Nesbitt making the clever table decorations.

The large sign displayed in the gym advertising the many merchants and business people of the area, who donated cash, food and prizes for the affair, was designed and made by Miss Kathy Harris. She is a senior at Santiam High.

Mrs. Cooper said that cash donations alone more than paid for all expenses connected with the dinner and carnival.

Following the dinner an outstanding program was given on the stage with Lowell Fleetwood doing a good job as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Veness presented her second grade group of Bluebirds in a delightful hula dance. The authentic looking costumes were made by the leaders. Girls were Carolyn Bassett, Marjory Ruby, Sharon Franklin, Martha Veness, Rebecca Earhart, Kathy Ragsdale, Nancy Steers, Geraldine Wright and Darlene Rue. Others appearing on the program were the Alaska Can-Can girls in their fancy costumes, which they had made. They were extremely effective. The girls could be recognized as Mrs. Ace Underwood, Mrs. Howard Farren, Mrs. Donald Farrier, and Mrs. Bill Lee.

The graceful and talented "hula girls" who added a great deal of life to the program were Jim Putman, Gleason Eakin, Albin Cooper, Bill Lee and Lee Ross. Lowell Fleetwood gave a reading on Alaska, Robert Harris sang several appropriate numbers accompanied by Mrs. Donald Sheytha at the piano. Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Sheytha also sang an appropriate number. Johnny Kelly played several piano solos. Mrs. Ross played the piano accompaniment for the Can-Can girls for their number.

Deserving praise for extra duty was Mrs. Earnest Podrabsky, who made the hot rolls for the dinner and helped with cleaning the kitchen, following her full day's work at the cafeteria.

Santiam Rebekahs Hold Nomination Meeting at Hall

A short business meeting of the Mill City Woman's club has been changed to November 24, according to Mrs. Don Paul, president. Mr. Paul was to show slides of their recent European trip but will be unable to do so because of conflicting engagements. They will be shown at a later date.

Mrs. Paul states it is necessary to have a business meeting, particularly on club finances. This meeting will be held November 24 at her home at 7:30 p. m.

Eastern Star Holds Instruction School

Marilyn Chapter Order of Eastern Star held a school of instruction at their regular meeting Monday evening. The affair started with a 6:30 potluck dinner with Mary Gulliford in charge of arrangements.

Elsie Volkel presided as worthy matron and her husband, Floyd Volkel assisted as worthy patron.

The Associate Grand Matron of Seaside, Mattie Iermann was present to conduct the school of instruction for officers.

Also attending was a delegation from Stayton including the Worthy Matron of Anacia Chapter, Bernice Fair, Helen Tate, and Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Gaylord.

Mrs. Hermann and Mrs. Fair were presented in the East.

A degree was held after chapter was closed for the pleasure of Mrs. Hermann and other members. Ruby Brisbin, Mabel Parker and Gladys Lake, dressed in clever seal costumes put on a skit with Edna Hutcheson acting as their "trainer."

Fall flowers were used in the chapter room and dining room.

Rebekah President Makes Official Visit To Local Lodge

Mrs. Ruth Voss, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Oregon paid her official visit to Santiam Rebekah lodge Thursday evening. She was accompanied by Mrs. W. Vernon Hahn, who is the Deputy Grand Marshall of the Assembly. Mr. Hahn was also on the trip and paid his official visit to the Mill City IOOF lodge. He is the Grand Master of the Grand lodge of Oregon.

The regular order of business was carried out for the benefit of Mrs. Voss. Members and guests sang her song for the year, "This is My Prayer." The warden and conductor presented Mrs. Voss to Mrs. Agnes Carlson, noble grand of Santiam, who gave her a gift from the lodge. Mrs. Carlson had made a crocheted flower basket and Mrs. Rachel Olmstead had made artificial flowers which contained a gift of silver.

After the business meeting the lodge was opened and the Odd-fellows, who had been in session in another part of the building joined the Rebekahs. Carmen Barnhardt presented the colors and Iri Plymale gave the opening prayer.

Introduced were Mrs. Voss, Mrs. Hahn and Santiam's District president, Mrs. Dorothy Vail. There were about 35 guests present from Silverton, Stayton, Lyons, Cascade Locks, Oswego and Hillsboro. Mr. Hahn and Mrs. Voss gave inspiring and instructive talks on fraternal work.

Santiam lodge drill team under the direction of Mrs. Barnhardt gave a well executed drill. The women were gowned alike in pink formals. The closing prayer was made by Mrs. Rachel Olmstead of Santiam.

The lodge room was decorated in pink and green and a hand-painted wall hanging was painted by Faustina Nesbitt depicting Rebekah emblems. Mrs. Nesbitt had decorated the entire lodge room.

On the serving committee were Mrs. Lette Swan, Mrs. Gladys Mason, Mrs. Ida Fleetwood, and Mrs. Antonia Thomas.

Decorating the tables with the pink and green colors and also using fall flowers, were Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Olmstead.

Ten Commandants as Social Creed Theme OF WSCS Meeting

LYONS—Lea Johnson was hostess for the meeting of the WSCS held at her home Tuesday. Alta Bodeker, vice president presided over the meeting. Mrs. Gladys Hargreaves was in charge of the program. Her text was "The Ten Commandments as a Social Creed." Various plans were made and discussed. December 8 is the date set for the annual Bazaar and Smorgasbord dinner which will be held in the church basement. Committee in charge will be Effie Anderson, chairman, assisted by Mildred Pritchard and Eleanor Smith. Plans were also made for the cooked food sale and rummage sale held in the barber shop building next to Dale's Food Market. An invitation to attend the Annual Harvest Home Festival at the Methodist Home in Salem, Sunday, November 22 was read.

Attending the meeting were Alta Bodeker, Gladys Hargreaves, Ethel Huffman, Evelyn Julian, Eleanor Smith, Reta Cruson, Pearl Hudson, Orpha Roye, Gladys Edwards, Eva Bressler, Rev. Ruth Cotton and the hostess, Mrs. Johnson.

Ask Amy
 BY AMY ADAMS

IT'S TIME SHE HAD A BETTER DEAL!

Dear Amy:
 To bring you up to the present about my mother-in-law, I have to go back to the past. When my husband and I were going to become engaged, I wanted a watch as a gift. My mother-in-law said no—a ring. So I got a ring. We decided on a small wedding. She said no—a big wedding. So we had a big wedding. If I invited her for dinner on Sunday, she said no—Saturday. So we had to have her on Saturday.

Nine months ago I became pregnant and wanted a girl. She said no—a boy. You know something, Amy, she won again because last week I had a boy!

I know that wasn't her fault but I refuse to take orders from her anymore. Can you offer any suggestions on how to shut her up?

Always Losing
Dear Losing:
 You can't help but lose when you don't play your cards right. Tell her you're dealing from now on and she's welcome to join if she doesn't call the deals and acts like a good ace.

Dear Amy:
 As a waitress with 20 years experience, I wholeheartedly agree with you when you call Mrs. R.K.'s husband a fool.

I never did think much of a man who sat at my station and called me endearing names in the hopes that his portions of service would be bigger and better, in fact, his tips are usually smaller.

We serve just what the kitchen gives us and as soon as we get it. The waitresses I know of are respectable women that want to be treated as such.

We would appreciate being called "Miss" or just plain "Waitress" not any old name that comes into a man's mind.

Old Timer
Dear Old Timer:
 Let's hope we have educated a few fools!

Dear Amy:
 I have a real problem! I'm 18 and have been going with a boy for four years. He has always been very nice to me and on special occasions, he has given me expensive gifts. I have always reciprocated with ordinary presents.

I now have met another boy and we like each other a lot. Because I accepted the gifts from the first boy, I feel very bad and don't know how to break off with him.

Pat
Dear Pat:
 If your conscience is bothering you, return the gifts to number one boy with a note of explanation, and hereafter, make it a practice only to accept token gifts from number two boy and those that will follow him.

Dear Amy:
 Every time my wife and I go to a social function or a party, she immediately forgets I'm alive. She goes to the man who is the center of attraction and there she stays until it's time to leave.

I have talked to her about this and even bought a book on clever party tricks but nothing has helped.

I'm rather quiet and can't compete with these men that know how to win friends and influence people.

I'd like to know how to keep my wife by my side on these evenings out?

Sober Sam
Dear Sam:
 Try this. Pick out the most attractive woman in the room and be as attentive to her as you know how.

Your wife will be at your side in no time flat if you show her you're alive and kicking.

Dear Amy:
 Nothing annoys a man more than finding the evening paper all messed up when he comes home in the evening. Not only is it in such disorder that you can't read it but whenever the story is continued, you find that part has been cut out because of a recipe, a fashion note or what have you.

I come home from work every day with five men and we all have the same complaint. God bless our wives but what can we do to preserve our evening papers.
