Road East of Gates To Be Improved

GATES—Folks living on the Linn county side of the river can add one more thing to be thankful for on the coming Thanksgiving Day. After 10 years of trying, their pleas to have a better road from the Gates bridge east have been heard!

Large culverts have been put in to replace a narrow bridge by the Bob Levon place; counters were placed across the road at two places in late summer, and now a grader has been brought in and fences are being set back in places, widening and grading is being done, and residents have it on good authority that paving will be done in the spring! Not only the home owners here, but loggers hauling many loads daily over this route will sincerely appreciate this improvement.

Santiam Farmers at Stayton Holds Annual Meeting Saturday

Stayton — Santiam Farmers Co-op Saturday, at the annual meeting renamed their three directors for another term of office. The trio includes George Zimmerman, Robert Schumacher, and Lawrence Frank, all of the Sublimity area.

Three speakers during the day-long program were Don Gillespie, representative of Pacific Supply Co-op in Portland, speaking on outlook for the seed industry; Dr. Lee Caroin, Oregon State College, talking on farm prices; and Karl Baur, representative of Pacific Supply Co-op, speaking on growing functions of cooperatives.

Panel on Adult Education Feature Of PTA Meeting

The November meeting of the Mill City PTA featured a panel discussion on adult education. The regular meeting was dispensed with and various announcements were made with Mrs. James Grant taking the room count. Mrs. James Putman's second and third graders won the prize.

George Porter, supervisor of the adult education program in Salem spoke on general education; Dr. Howard Akers, director of the Salem extension center, spoke on higher education and O. I. Paulsen, state director of vocational education gave facts on that phase of the program.

James Putman was panel moderator and Bob Harris, also of the Santiam faculty spoke on "Audio and Visual Education." Following the panel an open period of questions and answers was held with those in the audience showing much interest. Among subjects which seemed to be particularly desired by those present was foreign languages. Following the meeting, refreshments were served by a group of 7th grade mothers.

Mrs. Mode Davis Taken to Hospital

Mrs. Jennie Davis was taken to the Salem Memorial hospital in Salem, following a heart attack last week. Her husband, Mode Davis, who is also in poor health was taken to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Sam Delaney at Hood River. Mrs. Delaney was here last week, also their son, Malcom Davis of Longview and their grandson Charles Davis, who has recently received his discharge from the service. Charles Davis and family plan on locating on the West coast as soon as he obtains employment. His wife and two children are in Florida at present.

Vernon Johnson Gets Partial Scholarship From Oregon State

Vernon Dale Johnson of Mill City, has been awarded a partial-tuition scholarship for 1959-60 at Oregon State College.

Johnson, a freshman in the school of engineering, was selected to receive a study grant sponsored by the state system of higher education. It is worth $168.

The state system of higher education gives a limited number of such scholarships each year to outstanding Oregon high school graduates and college students to encourage them to complete their education.

Oregon Chauffeurs Must Renew Licenses By December 31

Oregon chauffeurs have about seven weeks to renew their licenses for 1960, the Department of Motor Vehicles reminded today. Current licenses expire December 31.

Applications for 1960 chauffeur licenses are available at all branch offices or from licensed examiners of the department.

The fee will be $1 this year, due to the fact that chauffeurs no longer are contributing to the state's driver education fund.

There are approximately 42,000 chauffeurs' licenses issued

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

A Real
"Meaty" Subject

Today I've got a tale that really hits close to home—but it's okay, I've got the wife's permission to tell it.

My Mrs. Marsh has been cooking hams—deliciously, I might add—for years. But always, just before she pops 'em into the oven, she slices an inch off one end. Reason: she said her mother always did that to make ham tastier.

Last week, though, Grandma gave the real reason. Sure, she used to slice an inch from a ham but only when her roasting pan was an inch too short.

From where I sit, all of us do things that can't be backed up by reason or fact. Most time they're pretty silly things—particularly the petty prejudices we build. For instance, some folks may resent your preference for buttermilk at dinner, or mine for a glass of beer. If they'd stop to think "why"—they'd realize they were taking a "slice" off our friendship and for no good reason at all!
