Lodge Plans Open House For Mrs. Suzy Haynes June 24th

Plans were made for an Open House for Mrs. Suzy Haynes at the regular meeting of Santiam Rebekah lodge with Anne Primeau and Rachel Olmstead in charge of arrangements. The affair is open to the public and all friends of Mrs. Haynes are cordially invited to attend. The Open House will be held at her home Sunday, June 24 from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon and honors her 50 years as a member of Santiam Rebekah lodge.

There was discussion and plans made for the 4th of July float which the Rebekahs in conjunction with the IOOF lodge are entering. The theme will be the American Indian and princess for the float is Janet Hutchinson. Heading the float committee from the lodge is Faustina Nesbitt, Ada Plymale and Toni Thomas with members of the Oddfellow lodge assisting.

Toni Thomas and Ruth Hess reported on their recent attendance at the Rebekah Assembly of Oregon which was held in Medford.

A no-host supper was served following the meeting.

Exchange Student Enjoys Year Spent In Mill City

The following letter was received by the Mill City Chapter of The American Field Service from Anne Subardi, before her recent departure on her cross-country trip.

I want to take my pleasure of thanking the AFS in Mill City, my family and my fellow students and teachers at SUHS for all they did for me to make my stay the happiest.

A year of my stay here in Mill City seem to short but it's really full of experiences that I'll never forget.

I'm proud of these programs which try to promote understanding between each country to another with full respect for the rights of other. I sincerely hope that I created some understanding with all the people I had a chance to meet, so I come home to my country with the story of America. During my year with you here, I learn everything, and know everything about the actual and truthful America.

So once again, thank you very much and see you again some day.

Love,
Anne

Among teachers hired that year in the Mill City Elementary school were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brent, Miss Jewell Boone, Mrs. Audrey Morely, and Mrs. Vera Smith. They are still on the school staff with the exception of Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Dorothy Budlong had honored her daughter, Linda with a party on her 5th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Leo Fitzgerald had honored Mrs. Charles Wirkkala with a "Gay Nineties" luncheon. Guests were wives of Detroit Dam employees.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. MacGregor had returned from a 6,000 mile trip across the United States and said for their money, Oregon was the place to live.

Walter Mackie and Dub Stewart had been elected to serve on the Mill City Board of Education.

Patio Decorations Topic at Lyons Garden Club Meet

LYONS—The Lyons Garden club held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. Alex Bodeker with Mrs. Clyde Bressler as co-hostess on Wednesday afternoon, June 13. Roll call was answered by naming plants suitable for patio. Laura Neal gave a very interesting talk on patio decorations, and a general discussion was held on the picnic for the next meeting. Games were played and winning prizes were Mrs. Richard Brown and Mrs. Otto Weidman and the door prize went to Mrs. Arthur Olmstead. Preceding the meeting strawberry shortcake and coffee was served on the patio.

Those attending were Mmes Warren Edwards, William Huffman, Floyd Bassett, Percy Hiatt, Ralph Downer, Otto Weidman, Harley Scott, Orville Downing, Chester Robinson, Richard Brown, E. L. Roye, Arthur Olmstead, Earl Cotton, Mrs. Alice Huber, Mrs. Pearl Hudson, Mrs. Donna Asmusen, Mrs. Laura Neal and the hostesses, Mrs. Bodeker and Mrs. Bressler.

Others introduced were Pearl F. Holthouse, long-time secretary of Marilyn Chapter, and her daughter, Miss Mary Holthouse, both of Corvallis; Otto and Ruth Burson of the Aumsville Route; Eva Raines Hopkins of Portland; Edward J. and Alice Rupp and Elsie Potter of Salem. Frank and Alberta Smith, formerly of Eugene but now of Forest Grove, dropped in later.

A highlight of the day was the presentation by Leora Stevens junior past worthy matron of Marilyn Chapter, of 40-year pins to Pearl Holthouse and Violet Gordon. Twenty-five-year (or more) pins were presented to Ruth Burson, Eva Hopkins, Mary Kelly, Elsie Potter, Rose Cree and Maud Clark. Also earning pins, but unable to be present, were Myrtle Phillips, LaVelle Haseman, Robert and Edith Schroeder, Virginia Forman, Helen Kleighege, Henrietta Quinn, and Mable Freeman.

Worshipful Master Jack Gulliford announced the names of the following Master Masons as having been members from 35 to 40 years: Sven Ellassen, Virgil Heath, Lafe Potter, Robert Schroeder, T. W. Allen, W. T. Chesnut, R. C. Haseman, H. M. Ladd, Baird Roberts, Sig Jepsen, Ben Cober, E. C. Gordon, A. P. Mishler, Glenn Smith, S. G. Higdon, A. L. Raines, and J. G. Schaer. Pins were ordered and will be mailed out later.

Attractive key-rings with the Masonic emblem to commemorate the celebration of the 40th anniversary were distributed to the Masons present, by the secretary.

Souvenir programs containing the history of the lodge and chapter, names of the charter members of each organization, and a list of past masters of the lodge, as well as past worthy matrons and worthy patrons of Marilyn Chapter, are to be mailed to those unable to be present.

The lodge hall was open later in the afternoon for members wishing to visit and to see the pictures of the past masters and past matrons. Conducted tours of the area were offered for those interested, with the bal-

Many Here For Anniversary Picnic Of Masons and Star

About 50 persons attended the 1 o'clock picnic in the city park Sunday in observance of the 40th Anniversary of Mill City Lodge No. 180 A. F. & A. M., and Marilyn Chapter, No. 145, Order of the Eastern Star. It was a pleasurable reunion for some former residents of this area, who came from as far as Boston, Mass., and Berkeley, Calif., and the sunny weather added to the enjoyment of the day.

The picnic dinner was served buffet-style with Clara Morris, Mary Gulliford, and Shirley Baughman heading the committee. Arrangements for the affair were made by Jack Gulliford, worshipful master, and Charles Kelly, secretary, of the Masonic lodge.

Invocation was given by William B. Shuey, and the address of welcome by Wilson R. Stevens, who acted as toastmaster for the afternoon. Three musical selections were sung by Mark Sheythe and John Kelly, with ukelele accompaniment, one number being dedicated to all the fathers present as it was Father's day.

Introductions of the visitors were made by W. R. Stevens, who also read a telegram of greeting from Glen Smith of Los Angeles, the first worthy patron of Marilyn Chapter, who also served as worshipful master of Mill City Lodge in 1924.

Among distinguished visitors present were Edward C. and Violet Gordon of Berkeley, Cal., both charter members of Marilyn Chapter, who have since transferred. Their daughter, Jerrine Ellingsen and her young son, accompanied them from Eugene.

Coming from the greatest distance was Mrs. Harold M. Ladd of Swampscott (near Boston, Mass.) who will be remembered here as a former primary teacher, nan MaRoche. Her husband, a past master of the lodge and formerly with Hammond Lumber Co., office force here, accompanied her to Texas where they attended the wedding of their only son, Robert, but was unable to remain in the west long enough for the reunion.

Others introduced were Pearl F. Holthouse, long-time secretary of Marilyn Chapter, and her daughter, Miss Mary Holthouse, both of Corvallis; Otto and Ruth Burson of the Aumsville Route; Eva Raines Hopkins of Portland; Edward J. and Alice Rupp and Elsie Potter of Salem. Oregon Town, Country Church Conference Set

A "new look" is planned for the 14th annual Town and Country Church Conference at Oregon State University Aug. 6 through 10, according to Rev. Kenneth C. Larson, Corvallis, conference chairman.

Instead of the traditional conference-type program, this year's session will be built around the idea of continuing education for the clergy, church lay leaders, community leaders and others interested in the town and country church, he stressed.

The emphasis this year will be built on learning, with the conference built around three basic courses. Participants will attend basic classes daily in changes in Oregon agriculture and forestry, in social and personal implications of community change, and in communications.

In addition to the "core" courses, general sessions will be held on the subjects of the changing concept of the family farm, rural areas development and the resources available to local communities from the land grant university. Evening sessions will be devoted to family income and expenditures, to music and to community action ance of the day spent in reminiscing. Dessert was served later, with ice cream and coffee being furnished.

through farm and home organizations.

Elective courses offered will be on visualizing a talk, church publicity programs, church flower arrangements and ideas for parties and recreation.

"It is important that each participant attend the entire conference in order to gain the most from the classes which are scheduled daily. It is hoped this more intensive training this year will be helpful to pastors and leaders in their work in their local churches and communities," the chairman said.

Housing and meals will be provided for conference participants on the OSU campus with special arrangements for family groups. A Corvallis church is arranging to provide nursery and child care at most during the sessions.

In order to make the necessary arrangements for the conference, those planning to attend have been asked to pre-register by June 30. Registrations should be sent to The Rev. Loren H. Bush, recruitment chairman, Church of the Good Samaritan, 35th and Harrison, Corvallis. Information is available on request.

The conference is planned and sponsored by representatives of the Archdiocese of Portland in Oregon, state and local church women's associations, denominational representatives, Oregon Council of Churches, Oregon Farm Bureau Federation, Oregon-Washington Farmers Union, Oregon Home Economics Extension Council and Oregon State Grange in cooperation with OSU and its Cooperative Extension Service.

RAMBO'S RAMBLINGS

By Goldie Rambo

Here I am, back again after an on again, off again vacation. A day here—two days there which is not very restful. However, in late summer I hope to get a week of "doing nothing."

I am sure you were all waiting eagerly for The Enterprise to be on the street or in the mail last week—and it was a little late. It made a good story for me to say it was because I wasn't here on press day! None of us is indispensable of course, and adjustments on our new press was actually the reason. Everything is now back in place with our floors and windows bright and shining.

I had a nice Father's day. (Father's day?) That's right. We ALL enjoyed the day—took my folks on a drive down the 20 Miracle Miles. A stop at the famed Pixie Kitchen, where we saw a number of area residents enjoying the good sea food.

Was talking to Elsie Martin at the Last Frontier recently, and was sorry to learn that she is not opening the swimming pool this year. She said it was just too much along with operating the club. It is available to any organization that would like to take it over for the season. I hope that someone will take advantage of this opportunity as this is a nice spot on a hot summer day. How about it?

Speaking of recreation and young people—it seems that some kids—at least I presume it was young people—had time on their hands and some sort of a "way out idea" in their minds, when they recently rammed in the door of the rest rooms near the youth center in the city park. The siding was practically "shredded" and the toilets made unusable. The Lions club members, over a period of years, have spent a lot of time and money fixing up the park and the buildings in it, for the public to enjoy—destroyed in minutes, at least partially, by some misguided person.

I am not a psychologist, and I wonder if they really know the reason for the behaviour pattern in some youngsters nowadays. But one thing about it—it isn't limited to any one area or income bracket. A sign of our times?

Things that happen to people in a hurry—I was trying to reach a Salem office before 5 Monday evening and hurriedly dialed a number—direct of course. Guess what—in a minute I had a Seattle office on the line. I strongly advise reading the small print! Just hope it gets erased from my bill.

So often in a newspaper office (or any other, I imagine) we only hear the complaints. But the other day we had a very satisfied customer and she took the time to tell us so. Edna Hutcheson at Gates recently sold her home and placed several classified ads in The Enterprise to dispose of her furniture and miscellaneous items. She said the response was overwhelming and she appreciated it very much. Once again we say, "It pays to advertise in The Enterprise."
