Oregon Timber Cut For 1961 Lowest Since Year 1949

Oregon's timber harvest in 1961 amounted to 7,410,683,000 board feet, according to log production figures just released by state Forester Dwight L. Phipps. This is the lowest volume harvested since 1949 and the second consecutive year that production declined, he pointed out. In the last two years the total production figure has dropped some 1,453 million board feet, having decreased about 736 million from 1960 and 717 million from 1959.

The volume harvested in 1961 was, however, only about 175 million board feet under the 1957 figure which by 1959 had increased over 1,278 million, Phipps added. There has been a decline in the average annual harvest since the banner year of 1952 when 9,802,471,000 was harvested. Two other maximum yield periods were recorded in 1955 and 1959 with some 9,719,878,000 and 8,864,315,000 board feet harvested respectively. Minimum harvest years were 1949, 1957 and 1961 with volumes of 6,874,953,000; 7,585,991,000 and 7,410,683,000, he added.

Lane county, which claimed the lead for log production from Clatsop county in 1941 and lost it to Douglas county in 1949, again stepped up to first place with a harvest of 1,477,710,000 board feet compared to 1,065,963,000 for the latter. Linn county moved up to third place for the first time since 1957 with a volume of 548,549,000 board feet harvested. It held this position steadily during the forties. Coos and Curry counties were fourth and fifth with volumes of 439,133,000 and 426,141,000 respectively. Jackson county was a close sixth with 424,726,000 board feet.

In the pine region of eastern Oregon, Grant county harvested 209,100,000 board feet to regain the production lead it has held since 1951 and lost only last year. Klamath county, which had previously dominated the production picture, lead the field just once more in 1961 then had to take second with a volume of 180,194,000 this year. Lake county with 171,334,000 board feet was third, as it regularly has been for about the past ten years. Union county produced 116,791,000 board feet and Umatilla 110,787,000 to place third and fourth.

In the breakdown of production by land ownership, the report indicates that the national forests of Oregon provided 2,442,600,000 board feet, while the Indian service produced 40,190,000 board feet. By far the greater cut came from private lands with nearly five billion being harvested. This figure is

Masonic Lodge Princess

Janice Logan has been chosen to represent the Mill City Masonic lodge as their princess for the 4th of July celebration. She is worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow for Girls.

The tabulation of log production has no direct relationship to lumber production of the state, since some of the logs go to adjacent states, while, at the same time, there is a limited volume of imports. Too, large stocks of logs can be carried over from one year to the next in cold decks, rafts and booms.

The cut for Marion and Linn counties was reported as follows: Marion, 107,293; Linn 548,549.
