Al Brown Gives Timber Tax Info

Al Brown, Linn County Assessor, this week released the following information which he said should be noted by Linn County taxpayers.

The 1961 legislature passed a law which established valuation procedures for all private timber in Western Oregon except that on classified reforestation land and that on land classified under the Small Tract Optional Tax Law.

These valuation procedures in turn established three timber classes known as "Reproduction," "Young Growth," "Old Growth." For each of these classes, the law prescribed a method of arriving at the true cash value for assessment purposes. For "Old Growth" timber the law specified that the true cash value would be 30 per cent of its immediate harvest value except for owners who could show that their timber was being harvested in a longer than 30-year period, in which instance the true cash value would be 25 per cent of immediate harvest value. Establishing a "tract" with a 25 per cent valuation factor was done only upon application of the owner and if his cutting rate was slow enough.

It is important that owners of "old growth" timber and established "tracts" be informed of two important requirements of the law and action they need to take by January 1, 1963.

A. Owners of tracts which were established through report to the County Assessor and Tax Commission before January 1, 1962 must again take action by January 1, 1963 as follows:

1. Either file a description of any additions or deletions from the tract, or

2. File a statement with the County Assessor and Tax Commission that the tract as established during December 1961 is unchanged.

Unless these requirements are met, the timber will be assessed at a true cash value of 30 per cent of its immediate harvest values.

B. Owners of Old Growth timber (timber over 90 years of age) who have not established a tract and feel that their timber is being cut at a longer than 30-year rate, as shown by the past three years' harvest, may establish a tract and receive the 25 per cent valuation factor by making application to the County Assessor and the Tax Commission. Forms and instructions for this purpose may be obtained from either of these two agencies.

These applications must be filed on or before January 1, 1963 to accomplish this.

These requirements are set for by ORS 321.635. Further information can be obtained from the State Tax Commission, Salem 10, said Brown.

Councilmen Re-Elected In Large Vote Turnout

Two incumbent councilmen were re-elected at the city election Tuesday with a heavy turnout of voters. Delbert Goforth was re-elected police commissioner for a three year term, receiving 107 votes. C. E. Mason will serve another three year term as street commissioner, receiving 114 votes. There were five write-in votes according to Rex Ohmart, city recorder.

Neither Mason or Goforth were opposed for their offices. Tuesday's vote was an exceptionally large one for a city election.

Well Child Clinic Here December 19

There will be a well child Health and Immunization clinic at the SUHS Teacher's room on Wednesday December 19, according to Mrs. Dave Brantford health chairman for the area.

For appointment with the Marion county health doctor, call Mrs. T. H. Baughman at 897-2629.

Lions To Again Sponsor March of Dimes Campaign

Joe Hallam of Stayton was speaker at the Lions club meeting Monday night when he asked for the support of the club in the annual March of Dimes drive in the city. The Lions club has been in charge of this drive for many years, and at a board meeting they agreed again to take care of this project. Hallam brought with him a film on the work the Foundation is doing. It not only works for control of polio but also birth defects and arthritis. Also at the board meeting it was voted to go along with the city in leasing part of the city park to the elementary school district for playground use. The State Board of Education says the local district does not have enough space for the present enrollment. This will in no way take the park out of public use.

Over 60 pair of old glasses were collected and turned in to Mel Eide. The old glasses are used in the Lions sight conservation program. The old lenses are sorted for re-use and the gold frames are melted down.

Another guest at the meeting was Wayne Goin, manager of the district PP&L office in Stayton.

The first place winner in each class received $30, and his sponsor's name on the traveling trophy. The sponsor will have possession of the trophy for one year. The second place winners got $20, third place winners $12.50, and the fourth place winners $9.50.

Engineers Ask for Bids For Work at Dam

Bids have been invited by the Portland U. S. Army Engineer district for modification of the elevator control system at Detroit dam east of here.

Bids for the work, expected to cost less than $25,000 will be opened by Col. Sterling K. Eisinger, Portland District Engineer, in his office, 628 Pittock Block, Portland, at 2 p. m. January 10.

Toys For Tots

President Jim Hoover and John Wills, chairman of the Mill City Jaycee Toys for Tots project request that names of needy children be turned in as soon as possible. The last few years names have not been turned in soon enough to allow the Jaycees to do much planning.

Names should be called in to 897-2889 at any time. Toys may be turned in to Hoover's Repair between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. The Jaycees thank all those who have donated new and used toys to their project.

Albany Man New Vice President of Education Group

Mrs. Mary Brent, president of the Linn County OEA attended the Representative Council of the Oregon Educational Association in Portland Saturday.

The group passed a modified version of the controversial "sanctions" resolution which gives the OEA power to censure individuals or groups throughout the Oregon school system.

Dr. Leon P. Minear, state superintendent of public instruction stated that he was not pleased with the move. He said that if the state and local school boards kept education in good order, sanctions would not be necessary.

Allen Rogers, a classroom teacher and counselor at Albany High school was selected as vice president of the OEA. He will automatically become state president the following year, making him the first state president from Linn county in the history of the association. Mrs. Doris Sanders of Tigard moves up to the presidency of the group.

Several items were recommended by the Economic Welfare committee including the salary goal of $6,000 minimum to a $13,000 maximum pay for teachers.

That the Board be urged to study the provision of adequate clerical assistance to teachers and administrators.

More sabbatical leaves be made possible by the local districts, such leaves to be granted after a special period of service.

That the OEA oppose any additional teaching assignment beyond the currently accepted five-day week.

That the OEA request and support legislation to permit school districts to pay all or part of hospital and medical premiums on their employees, provided such payments will not be in lieu of adequate salary.

The ethics, legislative, membership and other committees also gave specified recommendations to the group.

All parents and the public are invited to attend. Mrs. George Stafford is instructor for the youngsters.

Santiam JV's Win from Amity

Santiam JV's turned back Amity Friday night in the preliminary game of the Wolverine basketball debut. They roared off to a 19-3 lead in the first half and held on grimly to end the game with a 34-30 advantage.

Lawrence Robertson led the Little Wolverines in the scoring department with 11 counters. He was followed by David Cline who had 9. Larry Conover pulled in a total of 12 rebounds and added 6 points to the scoring column.

Santiam dominated play the first half but new offensive maneuvers by Amity in the second half resulted in a big recovery and had the Wolverines worried at the end of the game.

Sgt. Sam Bass of Mehama Plays St. Nick in Tokyo

TOKYO—A Marine from Oregon has been instrumental in starting a fund to give a little Japanese girl a Christmas present that may save her life.

Sgt. Sam Bass of Mehama, of Dallas, Texas, read about Ritsuko Otsubo, 11, who suffers from a defective heart and uremic poisoning. She is a patient at Kobe Medical University hospital.

Ritsuko is an orphan and penniless. Without an operation she may not live the rest of 1962.

Sergeants Bass and Petriski spoke to their commanding officer, Lt. Col. C. E. Crew of Marine Fighter Squadron 451 about giving Ritsuko a "real Christmas present."

Col. Crew liked the idea and members of the squadron promptly pledged the amount needed, 200.00 yen ($355) to be turned over Dec. 20.

The Marines wrote Ritsuko to "get well, so you can visit us."

Santiam Wins First A-2 League Game from Canby

Santiam won its first league game in the Capitol Conference Tuesday, December 11, defeating Canby 49-37. Santiam led all the way with a team effort from four boys in the scoring and Don Podrabsky and Mike Gleason supplying the spark to the all-out effort.

Santiam displayed poise in winning this one with a very good defensive effort holding the Canby team to 38 shots for the game, allowing them to make 14.

Santiam contributed 13 points through effective free throw shooting by Rusty Whitten who made 7 out of 8 free throws.

Terry Morris and Mark Sheythe played their usual smooth game and dominated the rebound department.

Team scoring—Morris 10, Whitten 11, Sheythe 16, Hickerston 10, Gleason 2, Podrabsky, Cannon and Marshall 0.

Andy Anderberg Being Transferred

The man who probably knows more Pacific Power & Light Company customers in the Stayton-Mill City-Scio area on a personal basis than any other PP&L employee has been promoted to a new position and soon will transfer to Junction City, according to Wayne Goin, PP&L's Stayton manager.

Norman W. "Andy" Anderberg has been journeyman serviceman for Pacific Power here for the past 11 years and goes to Junction City to be the local supervisor.

Anderberg, the man who installs all new services in the area as well as taking care of any electrical troubles that may arise any hour in homes and business of PP&L customers, is a 16-year veteran of the company.

The departing serviceman began his Pacific Power career as a groundman in Albany in 1946 and in 1950 became a journeyman lineman in Albany. A year later he was transferred to Stayton as a serviceman, and, except for a short stint as a lineman, has been kept busy at the job ever since.

While living in this area, Anderberg has been president of both the Mill City and Scio Lions clubs as well as a member of the North Santiam Sportsman club.

No schedule has been set for Anderberg's departure from this area, Goin said. "He will stay on at his present job until we can find a suitable man to replace him," the local manager explained.

Translator Company Gets OK From FCC To Build System

Howard May, president of the Golden Rule Translator Company said Tuesday that he had just received a telegram from U. S. Senator Wayne Morse with the following content: "Was advised today the FCC has granted application filed by Video Utilities for 4 UHF translators to serve Mill City."

In an interview with May he stated that construction of the translator system would start immediately and that the engineers would arrive Friday.

Warrenton Plays Here Fri. and Sat.

Santiam won its first game in A-2 competition here Friday night with the Amity Warriors by a score of 56-38.

The game was very ragged from start to finish with Santiam gaining its big advantage with the use of a zone press. Many mental errors were committed by the boys which will have to be eliminated this week. Santiam shot .436 from the field making 23 for 53 attempts. The free throw line produced 10 points for 20 attempts.

Terry Morris played a very steady game and produced .750 shooting percentage making 6 for 8 attempts. Mark Sheythe was high scorer with 21.

Friday and Saturday night the Wolverines play the Warrenton team. The freshmen meet the local grade school Saturday night and the scouts Friday night.

Point makers Friday night were: Terry Morris 14; Rusty Whitten 5; Mark Sheythe 21; Don Podrabsky 3; David Hickerston 6; Mike Gleason 2; Randy Marshall 2; and Gary Whitsett 2.

Representative Detering Busy With Legislative Duties

Rep-Elect Gerald W. Detering says he feels the legislative session started for him soon after the November 6 election. All groups that might have an interest in the up coming legislative sessions beginning January 14 have been anxious to acquaint legislators with their problems and needs for money.

Among the meetings Detering will attend this week are one at the invitation of Pres. Jensen of OSU to visit the campus and its facilities and inspection of new research work at the University at Corvallis Wednesday, Dec. 12. Detering with other legislators from the region served by OCE will meet with some of its administrators and faculty in Monmouth December 14 for a discussion of the needs and problems of the school.

Detering will attend the Legislative Orientation conference that has been scheduled for December 17, 18, 19 at the State Capitol for all persons who will be members of the 1963 Legislative assembly. In addition to the three-day conference on revenue and expenditures for 1963-65, a special one-day conference on tax matters will be held Dec. 20 at Salem. The tax conference will be sponsored jointly by the Tax Commission and the University of Oregon.

Rep. Detering, president of the research and advisory council, has called an executive committee meeting at Portland for Friday, December 21 to review developments that have occurred in connection with the budget request for agricultural research as contained in the Governor's budget to be presented to the 1963 legislature.
