

Gates Women's Club Discus New Plates

GATES—Mrs. Mary Wilson was hostess for the Gates Women's club meeting held Thursday at her home. New business discussed at the meeting was whether the club should select a new Santiam Canyon plate. Many area residents have the old plate, which is colorful and depicts the local industries, towns and recreational areas. Mrs. Lola Henness, secretary, stated that there had been quite a few inquiries about purchasing plates with the old pattern, however, she said the plates have to be ordered in such large quantities that there was concern that they could all be sold. Therefore, the organization will probably order plates with a different pattern.

Present at the meeting were Maude Davis, Toni Thomas, Elsie Volkel, Lola Henness, and Mary Wilson.

I am still sort of limp—and slightly hoarse—from Saturday nights exciting basketball game.

As a basketball player from "way back when"—at Mill City high school I really live the game with the kids. It's exhausting, but fun.

One thing I hope is continued at the games and that is the Pep band playing our National Anthem. They did a fine job and I am sure it gave everyone a good feeling. There is a feeling of pride and emotion that I think most of us have when that particular piece is played—making us proud of our country, our school and our town. We may gripe about all of them at times, but are quick to rise to their defense when an "outsider" makes a disparaging remark.

Speaking of teen-agers an interesting article was brought in to the office and I think it is worth repeating. It has been issued in the name of the Denver Juvenile Court.

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenagers: What can we do—where can we go—?"

The answer is go Home!!! Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub some floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job. Help the Church, visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons, and then when you are through—and not too tired—read a book.

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your town does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again.

In plain words grow up. Quit being a crybaby, get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone. Start acting like a young man or lady."

Strong words—but certainly worthy of consideration and action.

And now for the lighter side—in case you are interested, the answer to last week's brain-twister was the word, "queue".

For a finish line—the woman with the bulging shopping bag panted to her seat in the movies just as the feature was reaching an exciting point. Once settled, she ignored the screen in order to dig through her bag, obviously in search of some special parcel.

One by one she removed the packages, unwrapped them and explored their contents, while her neighbors strained to hear the dialogue above the crackling of the paper. This persistent, rustling search continued until the man directly in front of her turned and fixed the woman with an infuriating stare. "Lady," he asked, "what are you doing back there—building a nest?"

Ever have it happen to you?

Your Social Security

Q. I am moving next month. What can I do to make sure I get my social security check on time?

A. Report your new address to the Social Security Administration as far ahead of your move as you can giving your name and social security number. If the notice is received by the middle of the month, there will be time to change the address on your next check. You should also notify your post office.

Q. What should I do if I cannot give the Social Security Administration my new address until after the middle of the month?

A. If you cannot notify us before the middle of the month, your next check will probably go to your old address. Therefore, it is very important that you also make arrangements with your post office to forward your next check to your new address.

Q. What information does your office need in order to change the address on my next check, other than my name and new address?

A. Always give us your full name, new address, and your social security claim number.

Q. Can I notify you of a change in my address by phoning your office?

A. No, for your protection, we require that a change of address request be in writing and signed by the person to whom the check is payable.

Q. Why has the contribution rate of social security taxes been scheduled to increase periodically?

A. The number of older people in the country is increasing; therefore year by year costs are expected to grow for many years. Income from the gradually increasing schedule of taxes in the law will meet this expected future rise in costs without disrupting the economy by imposing the whole tax needed to support the program all at once.

Q. What happens to the social security taxes taken out of my wages?

A. First of all these tax contributions are placed in trust funds from which benefits are paid. One trust fund is used to pay benefits to retired people and their dependents and the families of deceased workers. The other trust fund is used to pay benefits to disabled workers and their families. Money in the trust funds that is not needed for current payment of benefits is invested in Government bonds. The interest on this money is added to the trust funds.
