Lyons Rebekahs Plan Hobby Show
LYONS—The regular meeting of Faith Rebekah lodge was held Wednesday evening with Helen Johnston newly installed noble grand presiding. The usual routine of business was carried out reports heard and the sick reported on. The new noble grand appointed the following committees: Publicity, Eva Bressler; Fraternal Press, Alta Bodeker; Good of the Order, Mildred Carr; Floral, Gertrude Weidman, Eva Bressler, Celene Taylor and Norma Pennington; Examining, Florence Branch, Blanche Wagner and Celene Taylor. It was voted to sponsor two Brownie Scout troops and three girl scouts. Plans were made for the district convention to be held in Jefferson on Feb. 8, beginning at 7:30 p. m. to complete work that was only partially finished on Oct. 12 when the high winds forced the convention to disband.

A general discussion was held on the hobby show which will be held the later part of March with the date to be made known later. This is an annual affair sponsored by the lodge and is open to any one wishing to bring their hobbies. At the close of the meeting chili was served by Beulah Lewis followed by the playing of Bingo at the social hour.

LARC Meeting Held in Lebanon

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Olson of the Mill City branch of LARC attended a meeting of OARC at the Lebanon civic center Thursday evening.

Main speaker of the evening, Helen L. Gordon said that it costs approximately $139 per month to keep a retarded person in a state institution. She advocated training the retarded child to be self supporting while living at home. This she said can be done by starting community center day programs.

Mrs. Gordon said that a proposal for a pilot program of such community centers will be introduced in this session of the legislature by Representative Grace Peck. Eighty children can be given 24 months of training for $117,000.

The pilot study calls for two day center programs in interested communities for a period of two years. Any town interested in being one of the communities selected should let its senator and representatives know that its citizens are willing to cooperate in such a program.

Work Smarter . . Not Harder

By Bernice Strawa
Extension Home Management Specialist Oregon State University

Worry takes more time than work and doesn't pay as well. If you're inclined to fret about all the things you have to do, remember—time's a flying!

GREASE STAINS in wash and wear fabrics are some of the most determined you'll ever see. Everyday foods such as butter and milk are hard to get out of solid color fabrics.

Miracle fibers have a no miracle spot remover. The heavier the fabric, the more stubborn the stain. Here are a trio of ideas. Try them before the garment is washed. Heat sets the stain.

If the stain is fresh, put cornstarch on the spot to absorb grease. Wait a few minutes, then brush off. Do this several times if necessary.

The second possibility is to sponge with dry cleaning fluid, after placing a pad beneath to absorb the grease. There's one drawback—this may leave a ring. If this happens, soak the whole garment in dry cleaning fluid for 10 minutes. Then hang it outdoors to dry. Don't put it in a dryer. It's dangerous because the fluid is flammable. Be sure to work in a well-ventilated room or outdoors.

Another way is to rub the grease spot with glycerine, then let it stand for 15 to 30 minutes. (You can get glycerine at a drug store.) Next, wash as usual in warm sudsy water.

Often a yellow spot remains after grease disappears. If the fabric will take it, bleach with a strong solution of powdered bleach—the perborate type.

TURNING WORN SHIRT COLLARS has been smart economy practiced for most of you wives. But recently lots of men's dress shirts are made so collars can't be turned. What can you do? Some stores and mail order house now have separate collars especially for this purpose, which you can buy to replace the threadbare ones. They come in different styles and materials.

GLASS FIBER CURTAINS—how do you wash them? We recommend hand laundering (not in washer) in hot sudsy water. This material must be handled carefully. Better take off all jewelry to avoid snags. Squeeze suds through the curtain until clean. Avoid rubbing. Rinse a couple of times. Roll loosely in a bath towel to soak up moisture, then hang up to the window and they'll be dry in about 5 minutes.

Go easy when putting in the curtain rod. It's best to cover the tip of the rod with a piece of cotton cloth to avoid damage to the glass fiber. Never iron or use clothes pins, stretchers, starch or bleach on glass fiber. Creases may be smoothed out with the finger tips while still damp.

Bonnie Boroughs to Represent SUHS in Homemaker Contest

Bonnie Boroughs senior at SUHS, has been selected to represent her school as the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. She thus becomes eligible for one of 102 scholarships with a total value of $119,000.

She scored first in her school in the knowledge and aptitude test on homemaking given to senior girls. Her paper has been entered in competition with those of other state high school winners for state wide honors.

The State homemaker will be selected in the spring. She will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills, sponsor of the program. A $500 award will be made to the second highest ranking Homemaker of Tomorrow in the state.

Later, state homemakers of tomorrow will enjoy an expense paid trip to Washington, D. C. along with their advisors.

The General Mills program started 9 years ago and since that time three million girls have enrolled with scholarships approaching the million mark.

Sweet Rolls Topic At Home Extension Unit Meeting

GATES—The Santiam Canyon Home Extension unit met Thursday morning at the clubhouse. Chairman Dorothy Vail presided over the short business meeting. It was announced that the unit must submit a nominee to be considered for membership on the County Committee. The next meeting will be February 28. The lesson, which will be given by one of the Marion County Extension agents, either Lois Preisz or Ermina Fisher, will be given immediately following the potluck luncheon at noon.

Dorothy Vail demonstrated a sweet roll recipe, which had been in an extension lesson about seven years ago. After mixing the dough, she shaped a variety of rolls from dough that had been mixed earlier. Jan Erickson and Marion Stovall gave a lesson on making "twisted" rugs. Following the potluck luncheon, Mary Gulliford, the safety chairman, gave the safety report, which pertained to procedures to follow in case of an accident, how and when to report an accident, rural traffic safety and traffic legislation which will be considered by the present state legislature.

Present at the meeting were Margaret Rush, Retha Herron, Shirley Swaim, Lola Henness, Jeanne Rosamond, Ann Holman, Dorothy Eastburn, Theora Humphreys, Mary Gulliford, Maggie Shaw, Leola Delker, Wilma Baumgarner, Dorothy Novak, Marian Pennington, Dorothy Vail, Jan Erickson and Marion Stovall.

Lions Auxiliary Meets At Pittam Home

Members of the Lions Auxiliary were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Jerry Pittam, who also presided at the short business meeting.

Mrs. Charles Kelly, who was selected to act as secretary in place of Mrs. Norman Anderson, who moved recently, read the Lions Auxiliary newsletter.

She also read the letter of thanks which had been received from officials at the Oregon School for the Blind in Salem for the recent contribution of $100 the Mill City group had made. The money will be used for special projects at the school as the rooms are being redecorated and refurbished.

It was announced the spring board meeting would be held in Portland the middle of March. Definite arrangements will be made at the February meeting for those wishing to attend.

A number of suggestions were made to increase the Auxiliary membership and it was again pointed out that any wife of a Lions club member is welcome to join.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. James Gordon February 27.

Following Wednesdays meeting Mrs. Pittam served refreshments to those attending.

Campfire Girls Meet At Lowell Cree Home

Mrs. Ralph Budlong's Campfire Girls met Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lowell Cree.

Mary Susanne Heller was present and gave the girls and explanation of the beads on the gown.

The girls made invitations for their Valentine party which they are planning to have at the Recreation Center—the date to be decided on later. Committees were also named for the party.

Refreshments were served. Present were Mary Susanne Heller, Cheryl Albin, Sherry LaMunyan, Pam Wolfe, Debbie Chance, Connie Ragsdale, Esthel Freeman, Lonnie Bodeker, Martha Pennington, Karen Loveall, Terry Cothren, Alice Basye, a new member, Mrs. Budlong and Mrs. Cree.

"When children ask awkward questions, invention is the necessity of mother."

Blind, at 700 Church St. S. E. A well-known laundry equipment manufacturer will present a fashion show of garments properly and improperly laundered. A discussion of water softening chemicals and equipment and several other items are also on the program. Anyone interested in this clinic is invited to attend.

RAMBO'S RAMBLINGS

By Goldie Rambo

What's in a name? Particularly Your name. At least at various times many of us have wished we could shed the ones we were blessed (?) with. In my own case my given name makes-me shudder—somehow it was changed through the years. My grandmother named me—Golda—which to me is one degree better than the one I am known by.

I had an uncle who knew how much I disliked my name and he used to take great pleasure in naming some horse, cow or dog he had on his ranch after me. Well, that is better than being known as "Goldie the gold digger".

Not until the Fifteenth century did Europeans put much stock in last names. Most had none. If need be, they used given names, and now and then their fathers' given names (like John's son) or their home towns (like Thomas of Aquinas).

But mostly it was by baptism names as Sister John, Brother Albert or Queen Elizabeth.

Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain) once sued a man for printing a work called "sketches by Mark Twain". But the court ruled that Mark Twain had no sole right to use either his own or his pen name, except on his own books.

In this day and age it is better to stick to the name with which you were christened—with all the legal angles involved such as Social Security, etc.

I was talking with a friend the other day about never doing the things I really wanted to do as we get so involved with things we HAVE to do (or at least think we do). It is pretty hard to get off the merry-go-round once we are on it. Particularly so in this business.

Perhaps as we go along we can at least attain a few little personal achievements or triumphs although we never reach that large goal. In fact a dozen little triumphs every so often can really "set you up". It will exhalt and then relax you—so maybe we better cut our goals down to size—as all of us, whether we admit it or not, have a lot of ego hunger in our souls.

I was interested in reading the other day how Vassar college was founded—we always think of that as a very exclusive college for women. It was founded about 100 years ago by Mathew Vassar a Poughkeepsie brewer, as America's first privately endowed girls college. But girls there are the same as anywhere else and still sing the praises of the old brewmaster:

"And so you see, for old V. C. Our love shall never fail. Full well we know That all we owe To Mathew Vassar's ale!
