Commencement Exercises Held

Dr. Gerald Wallace, was speaker at graduation ceremonies for the 36 seniors that were graduated with the class of 1963 at Santiam Union High school, Friday evening, May 24. The High School band, directed by Spencer Hillesland played the Processional and Recessional marches with John Kelly playing a piano solo.

Valdictorian for the class was Rozillah Yankus with Carol Schaefer, Salutatorian.

Presentation of diplomas was made by Art Hempeck, chairman of the board of education. George Stovall, superintendent of the high school presented the awards.

Class members were Linda Bassett, Harley Bell, Alice Bickett, Bonnie Boroughs, Suzanne Carlson, Kenneth Chiechester, Mary Cogar, Jean Glunz, Lois Hershberger, David Hickerson, Sharron Hostettler, Cheryl Howton, Sandra Johnson, Carl Kelly, Janice Logan, Paul Loucks, Jacqueline Lute, Dianne Merrill, Dianne Minton, Grace Morgan, Tamra Morris, Barbara Olson, Okinori Ono, Sandra McCann, Patricia Pennick, Norvel Richards, Carol Schaefer, Gary Scharbanc, Bruce Tuers, Allen Warde, Gary Whitten, Rozillah Yankus, Kenneth Zeibert, Terry Morris.

A number of the seniors received recognition for their superior effort and work during their school years.

The Girod's Girl character award of $25.00 for the girl best exemplifying traits of good character went to Dianne Merrill; Girod's similar award for Sportsmanship going to the boy who has shown the true traits of good sportsmanship while competing as an athlete went Charles "Rusty" Whitten.

The Citizenship award is given to the senior boy or girl who by vote of their classmates is considered to be the most loyal to class and school as well as for their cooperation with other students and faculty. This was awarded to Linda Bassett and Charles Whitten.

The Scholarship award recognizes two students in the class with the best academic record and this was won by Rozillah Yankus and Carol Schaefer.

The Sousa award in music was given to Patsy Pennick and the Arion musical award went to Carol Schaefer.

The Stewart athletic award given for outstanding performance while competing in athletics went to Terry Morris.

Scholarship from the University of Oregon which is renewable went Carol Schaefer. She also won a scholarship from the Linn County Teachers Association.

Linda Bassett was the top winner in the state for a nursing grant to the Sacred Hearts hospital in Eugene, winning the $750 American Legion Auxiliary grant.

Boat Registration To Be Simplified

A State Marine Board sponsored bill has been passed by the Legislature which will simplify the registration of boats as well as save the State money in administrative costs.

The boating laws enacted by the Legislature four years ago required owners of motorboats to obtain a certificate of number every three years and an annual boat license, which is in lieu of property taxes. The new law, which will become effective next January 1st, combines the two requirements into one annual requirement, without any additional cost to boat owners.

Those boaters who obtained their numbers this year or last year will have their fee adjusted next year so as to receive credit for the time remaining. In asking for a change in the law the Marine Board pointed out that approximately $5,000 would be saved annually in printing costs, postage, etcetera, and would eliminate some confusion that prevails regarding the two requirements.

The Marine Board points out, however, that the new law does not become effective until owners will have to continue the cost of next year and boat under the existing law, which requires two separate documents, until that time.

Work Smarter . . . Not Harder

By Bernice Strawn

Help in Planning a Sewing Center was recently requested by a group of Wasco County women. Some are remodeling to have a complete sewing area. Others want to make their present storage space hold more. Here are ideas that came out of the extension lesson: Use pegboard to line a closet door. Sissors, spool racks, unfinished garments and many supplies can be hung here. Women like the idea of a cutting table which folded up against the wall. One home-maker built hers with a picture on the underside. This gives the effect of a picture on the wall when table is not in use. You'd never guess it was a table in the room.

Another favorite trick—avoid stooping to pick up spilled pins. Collect them with a small magnet taped to the end of a yard stick. But be sure the pins are magnetic—not all of them are.

Plastic Shower Curtains can be cleaned in your automatic washer unless they are old and stiff. Use warm water, add ½ cup water conditioner or softener (the no-scum type) but no detergent or soap. You'll get a washer full of suds just from the action of the softener with the scum on the curtain.

Let the machine go through the rinsing cycle, but skip the spin. Put in the dryer for about three minutes, no longer. This will shake off the water. Hang on shower rod to finish drying.

And if you want to avoid that soap scum next time, use one of the new detergent bars instead of soap for bathing. These are sold under various trade names. No bathtub ring either with this type bar.

Lucky You—if you have a dishwasher. When you're cleaning kitchen cabinets let the dishwasher clean dusty dishes and utensils you seldom use.

Before a big company dinner, warm the plates in dishwasher by turning dial to the drying cycle. Some new models have a special plate warming cycle.

To save time in washing two loads in succession, open the door after the first one so dishes will dry quickly. Then put in the next load.

Summer Cottons usually need a little starching to help them stay clean longer.

If you have trouble with streaking or spotting, make sure you use enough starch solution to completely cover the garment. Let it stand long enough to soak up the starch. Thick starch is more likely to streak than a medium solution.

For information on the seven different types of starch, write to me at OSU for our Extension Bulletin, "Be a Better Buyer of Starches."

Oakridge Forester Receives Promotion

Lloyd T. Soule, special assistant to the district ranger at Oakridge, Oregon, has been reassigned to the Portland regional office of the U. S. Forest Service.

Soule's new position is in the Division of State & Private Forestry, where he will assist with programs conducted cooperatively with the States of Oregon and Washington and with private land owners. His primary responsibility is with reforestation programs.

Soule began his career on the Willamette National Forest in 1952 following graduation from New York College of Forestry at Syracuse University. He was on the McKenzie Ranger District until 1960, when he was promoted to his position on the Oakridge Ranger District of the Willamette National Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Soule have two sons and a daughter.

Sorting clothes on the floor runs a risk of picking up all sorts of stains. Sort clothes on a table if possible. Should no table be available, use assorted sizes of heavy cardboard boxes. Select sizes which will nest inside each other when not in use.
