PP&L Urges Irrigators Use Caution

Irrigators are being cautioned anew this week to exercise extreme care in moving large metal pipes or sprinkler system equipment in the vicinity of electric power lines.

"Regardless of how many times the pleas for this safety precaution are repeated there has rarely been an irrigation season pass without a tragic accident that demonstrates again the need for constantly remembering to be careful when moving the metal pipes," explained Wayne Goin, PP&L local manager.

"Irrigation system pipes should never be upended when near power lines."

"And when mobile sprinkler equipment is to be moved from one field to another the power in overhead lines crossing the fields should be turned off or the equipment dismantled so it will not brush against or be entangled in live electric service lines," he added.

Another source of hazard is the electric motor which powers the irrigation pressure pump, it was stated.

"Be certain that the motors are properly grounded, and make a check of all insulation to be certain it has not become worn off," he added.

The PP&L manager said summertime help or new ranch hands should be instructed about the location of power lines on each farm.

Mrs. Mel Rambo Now Member of Hire The Handicapped Com.

Mrs. Mel Rambo has been appointed on the Hire the Handicapped committee from this area according to word she received this week. This program is being handled by the state department of employment in conjunction with President Kennedy's national program. Next meeting of the group will be Sept. 18 in Salem.

Within the next decade about 30 million women are expected to be holding down jobs, says the U. S. Department of Labor. Women now make up about one-third of the total labor force of 75 million. Modern invention and technological advances will add new jobs to the wide span already being filled by women. Many positions are and will be in the home economics field. Employers indicate that more professionally educated women are needed, and those trained in specific skills as well.

Educators Urge Early Career Choice

Today educators urge students to complete high school, and make an early choice of career so that later training and education can be planned accordingly. One group of young women who have a head start, reports the National 4-H Service Committee, are 4-H members.

1.3 Million Girls

At some time during club membership, nearly every one of the 1.3 million girls now enrolled in 4-H receives some training in her dual role of future homemaker and career woman.

Sewing, meal planning, nutrition, home management, interior decoration, fashion and consumer education are among the projects in which 4-H Club members participate.

They start in 4-H as young as 9 years of age, and many remain for as long as 10 years. Volunteer adult and junior 4-H leaders supervised by the Co-operative Extension Service head the local clubs.

Helping to encourage these future home economists, scientists, writers, mothers, teachers and business women are two corporations that annually contribute funds, educational literature and technical assistance to the national 4-H clothing and the foods-nutrition programs.

Scholarships Help

They are Coats & Clark Inc., which this year will help 12 girls with their college education by way of $500 national clothing scholarships.

General Foods Corporation will give six $500 scholarships to top-ranking club members in the 4-H foods-nutrition program.

Chicago Delegates

Both firms will bring to Chicago as delegates to the week-long National 4-H Club Congress state award winners from all 50 states and Puerto Rico—102 in all. Here they will be honored by their hosts at elegant parties and banquets.

During the week-long congress these talented teens will hear prominent educators and noted speakers. Along with 1300 fellow 4-H'ers they will participate in several challenging and inspiring events. For most, it will be the first trip to a big city.

Coats & Clark and General Foods are but two of hundreds of private enterprises helping the youth of this country achieve future goals.

"The Coming UHF Boom May Push Out VHF Altogether. — The Military and other public and private agencies, starved for spectrum space eye present VHF TV allocations hungrily. As now constituted, the FCC tends to regard their eventual abandonment by TV with favor. . . Translators hold bright promise for all." (Quoted from Electronics World Magazine - June 1963)

There are now already 450 UHF Translators alone Licensed and serving about 2 1/2 million people. Experts in the Electronics Field have conceded that this system is by far the best from a technical point of view.
