

RAMBO'S RAMBLINGS

By Goldie Rambo

We had an experience this weekend that I look forward to each year that we can attend—and that is the Shakespearian Festival at Ashland. To one who has never been there, how can words describe the fabulous Elizabethan Theatre patterned after the old Fortune Theatre in England—where there is continuous acting. The various windows and balconies allow this without any change of scene.

Of course the huge audiences that attend are seated outdoors in sort of an amphitheatre under star-studded skies.

The entire atmosphere is so authentic that it is like being transported into a little bit of Old World. The theatre is at one end of beautiful Lithia park which adds to the whole thing.

We saw Romeo and Juliet and it was a performance we will not soon forget.

So for something different, and you will REALLY enjoy it—why not take a trip to Ashland next year.

Now that it is September—decisions of many kinds are over. The family has quit arguing about where or whether to take a vacation or not. The young folks have decided what colleges to attend. Those who have been at holiday spots almost all summer and not got engaged to anyone have decided that they might just as well become engaged to each other. The Harvest Moon has appeared, and it's so decisive in its effect that a poem to it would be like trying to etherize the United States Supreme Court. Moms have braced themselves for a spell of PTA; and dogs, left in commercial kennels for the vacation, have forgiven the family.

September brings a profound change in the lives of millions of Americans. These are the members of what might be termed "the younger set." For three long months the school doors have been closed. Now it is back to school and blackboards.

Shakespeare, (after all I have to quote him this week!) in his famous lines on the seven ages of man, gave a typical view:—"the whining school boy, with his satchel and shining morning face, creeping like a small unwilling to school." For the typical boy or girl is SUPPOSED to hate school like the devil hates holy water. Frankly, I think in most cases it is just a pose and they really like school. At least high school days are certainly (or should be) happy days—I am glad to see that they were with me, and I look back on them with fond memories.

The opportunity for education is certainly more available than it was 30 odd years ago—and it is up to each individual whether it shall be used to the full or not.

Seeing that I seem to be quoting from the past—one more word on education is in order. When Aristotle was asked how much educated men were superior to those uneducated, he said, "As much as the living are to the dead." I think that is a little extreme, but every young person should take all educational opportunities that are provided.

But after registration this week perhaps some of you are looking at your depleted bank accounts and thinking that the old saw about them coming cheaper by the dozen is surely out of line nowadays!

For those fortunate enough to have prunes this season, try freezing a cooked sauce. Its fresh taste is good for cobbler or as a fruit dessert. Cut in half and remove pits. Add small amount of water. Add sugar to taste. Cool and freeze.

HAVE YOU EVER been horrified to see a lot of wrinkles when you look in a mirror lighted by fluorescent tubes? Don't despair, you don't really look that old! Someone just put in the wrong kind of fluorescent light, and it's easily changed.

There are actually seven colors of white fluorescent tubes. In a bathroom, bedroom or kitchen use the DeLuxe Warm White. This creates a warm atmosphere, is kind to skin tones, foods and all warm colors.

If your living room is blue or green then the Cool White tube should be used to enhance the color of the furnishings. If it is furnished with warm colors, then use the DeLuxe Warm White.

CHILDREN'S CURIOSITY leads them lots of places where clothes often pick up stains of axle grease or dirty machine oil. Before washing, rub the stain with salad oil and let it stay 15 to 20 minutes, to loosen the carbon and other soil.

Next blot up the oil with paper towels. Repeat this treatment if necessary, then wash in hot suds.

BROWN STAINS on the inside of a dishwasher are usually due to iron in the water supply. The glasses may have a brown or yellow film also.

To remove this stain, put ½ teaspoon of oxalic acid in the dishwasher and NO detergent. (First, remove any silverware, plastic or metal utensils.) Run the dishwasher through the regular cycle. When finished, add dishwasher detergent and let it wash through the complete cycle again.

PRECAUTION—Oxalic acid (available at the drugstore) is poisonous. Handle with care and keep out of reach of the children.

Mrs. Dorothy F. Brown, Benton County Extension Agent, says some women have reported successful use of citric acid also for the removal of these stains.

For more information on iron problems, write me for our Extension Fact Sheet "Iron in Your Water Supply."

Your Social Security

Q. I have a social security card. What must I do when I start to work?

A. Show the card to your employer. Make sure your name and social security number are given to him exactly as they are shown on the card. Make sure the social security tax is deducted from your pay check.

Q. I plan to apply for my social security number right away, but I want to begin working after school before I could receive the card. My employer insists that I have a number before I can work. What must I do?

A. When you apply for your account number, ask for a temporary receipt. This is an unnumbered card which will permit you to begin work until your number is assigned. Your employer will be notified of your number.

Q. I have been receiving social security benefits for the past two years. I plan on moving to Canada to live with my daughter. Can I do this and still draw my social security checks?

A. Yes. If you are a United States citizen, have been in the United States 10 years, or have 10 years' coverage under social security.

Q. I will be 72 years old in August of this year. I am working part time now but since I understand that you can earn as much as you want when you reach age 72, I will return to full-time employment in August and now earn over $1200. Do I have to notify the Social Security administration of my increase in earnings?

A. Yes. Though you may earn as much as you want to beginning in August, your total earnings for the year could affect the number of checks you can receive in the months prior to August. Starting next year when you are 72 or over in all months of the year you can earn as much as you want and you do not have to notify us.
