Assembly President Makes Visit to Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Barta Bagley, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Oregon from Springfield, paid her official visit to Santiam Rebekah lodge and Faith Rebekah lodge at a joint meeting held at the IOOF hall in Mill City Wednesday evening.

Official confirmation of the consolidation of Faith Rebekah lodge with Santiam was made on December 3; however Faith will meet for the last time this week to conclude official business.

Presiding over the meeting were Ann Primeau, noble grand of Santiam and Helen Johnston, noble grand of Faith.

There were visitors present from Eva Rebekah lodge in Stayton, Juanita Lodge of Springfield, Redmond, Wash.; Lady Smith, Wisconsin; and San Leandro, Calif.

Mrs. George Stinger, a member of the California lodge, now living in Mill City attended as did Mr. and Mrs. Bob St. Elmo, members of the Cottage Grove lodge, now living at Gates.

Mrs. Mattie Root, from the Wisconsin lodge, also living at Gates has been a faithful Santiam "adopted" member.

Faith and Santiam participated in impressive presentations of the 23rd Psalm and the Obligation ceremony. Mrs. Florence Branch of Faith was in charge of the rites.

A unique tribute to Mrs. Bagley, arranged by Faustina Nesbitt and Mildred Carr, was participated in by both lodges. Mrs. Bagley was also presented a gift from the lodges.

The president presented Mrs. Elsie Folsom, district deputy from Stayton with a seal of perfection for the unwritten work of the order.

Installation of new officers for the lodge will be held shortly after the first of the year. Taking the chair as noble grand will be Otto Koenke, one of the few men in the entire order to serve in that capacity; vice grand, Mary Stickney; recording secretary, Ida Fleetwood; financial secretary, Toni Thomas, and treasurer, Daisy Geddes.

It was announced that a new Rebekah lodge at Idanha-Detroit was in the process of being formed with the members and Santiam to assist in any way possible.

The lodge hall and dining room were beautifully decorated with flowers in yellow and brown tones representing the colors Mrs. Bagley has selected for the year. Yellow to represent to warmth of the sun and brown for the earth tones. Her emblem, the butterfly was also used in decorations and in her tribute.

A profusion of flowers in hanging baskets were arranged under the wall lights in the lodge room, adding a great deal of attractiveness.

Ann Primeau, noble grand, arranged the dining room decorations and Gladys Mason, district deputy president arranged the lodge hall decorations.

On the serving committee were Norma Pennington and Alice Huber of Lyons and Faustina Nesbitt and Rachel Owsen.

The next meeting will be December 18 when a special Christmas program will be a feature of the evening.

Women Read Food Ads—

Research shows that 8 out of 10 women read newspaper ads before their supermarket trips. Two out of three women check their pantry before shopping, and six out of 10 make up a written shopping list. These were some of the salient preliminary findings based on a study for the Bureau of Advertising and involving interviews with women in 40 cities throughout the country. The findings further disclosed that nine out of 10 shoppers buy one or more of the items advertised, 75% are interested in food recipes in newspapers, and 60% clip recipes.

Ever spill liquid contents of a salad mold while carrying it to the refrigerator? Or have you poured gelatin into a mold and find it's too large—or small? New standardized molds will have capacity marks in cups or pints. You'll appreciate the fact that the fill line is about one-fourth inch from the top to give a margin of safety in handling.

Tribute To Kennedy Given At Garden Club Meeting

The Mill City Garden club held its annual Christmas party Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lowell Cree with Mrs. Hollis Turnidge as co-hostess.

The 1 o'clock dessert luncheon was served from small tables covered with Christmas cloths and centered with red candles in holly holders. The rooms of the Cree home were gaily decorated with Christmas decorations.

Following the luncheon a short business meeting was held. Mrs. Daniel Kleihege gave the following tribute in memory of our late president, John F. Kennedy: "Since our last meeting in November our nation has suffered a stunning blow. I want to pause a moment and think about it before we have our business meeting and Xmas party. With the rapid news media the American public realized what had happened to us within minutes. Regardless of political affiliation or religious creed, race or color, the citizens of the United States figuratively fell to their knees. So recently we have had sentiment manifest that God should be left out of many things. What a pity that we should be brought to our senses by the loss of our Chief Executive!"

John F. Kennedy was a religious man. On Sunday the whole world knew where to find him. What we need to pray for now is that we as a nation will follow his example and not forget in a few days, go back to our pettiness, hatred and prejudice.

At the death of Abraham Lincoln, Secretary Scranton said: "Now he belongs to the ages. The same can be said of John F. Kennedy. The Bible says in Psalm 55, 'Blessed is the Nation Whose God is the Lord.'"

This is our Challenge today. The United States of America must show to the world that a nation founded on religious precepts has a strength and faith unshaken, even as we "walk through the Valley of the Shadow."

"Blessed is the Nation, Whose God is the Lord."

Following the business meeting the group sang Christmas carols and Mrs. Kleihege read the Christmas story from the second Chapter of Luke. Mrs. Edith Mason read "The Legend of the Black Madonna," by Margaret T. Applegrath.

Each member brought a Christmas gift to be sent to the Turner Memorial Home. Gifts were also exchanged.

Mrs. Curtis Cline received the door prize, a pink poinsettia.

The January meeting will be on the 9th at the home of Mrs. James Swan with Mrs. Herbert Schroeder and Mrs. Harvey Tolbert as co-hostesses. Christina Sorensen, AFS exchange student, will be the guest speaker.

Present for the Christmas party were: Mmes. Daniel Kleihege, Curtis Cline, Jesse Underwood, James King, Louis Verbeck, Walter Thomas, J. C. Kimmel, Floyd Fleetwood, Harry Mason, James Swan, Ernest Graham, Charles Dolzal, Ace Underwood, Wendell Heller, Martin Hansen, Kenneth Corning, George Stinger, Otto Witt, Fred Grimes, Q. V. Miller, Paul Ressler, Roger Nelson, Horace McCarley, Hollis Turnidge, and Lowell Cree.

Stayton Group Entertains OES

RAMBO'S RAMBLINGS

By Goldie Rambo
A rainy, Monday afternoon—a time of contemplation and reflection—seasons changing—the pace getting more frantic as the holidays rapidly draw nearer.

I don't need that voice on the radio to tell me there are only umpteen shopping days left until Christmas—as I avoid looking at the calendar.

I was saying to a friend the other day that I wished the month of December was over—and she said "stop wishing your life away."

Well—December being my birth month it is going to slip by anyhow.

I was listening to Sophie Tucker the other evening on TV (what a gal) and she certainly hit the time passing bit "right on the nose." There simply isn't time to do all we should do—because we never know when our really short span on earth will be over.

And wouldn't it be a wonderful world if we could spend that time constructively—and lend a helping hand to the fellow that is down and less fortunate than ourselves—but being human we have a tendency to become a little self centered.

Last year I absolutely ignored New Year's Resolutions—but here it is several weeks to go and I am full of good resolve—will have to have a prodder of some kind as I no doubt will need constant reminding. Well, it doesn't hurt to try!

And now for the brighter side—particularly on marriage.

A man who gives in when he's wrong is wise; a man who gives in when he is right is married.

Any guy who figures marriage is a 50-50 proposition doesn't understand one of two things, fractions or women.

One thing about married men—none is completely worthless. Even the worst can serve as a horrible example.
But a husband and wife have a lot in common—he gets into the dirt in the garden and she gets the dirt over the garden fence.
