The show was held on the balcony of the high school gym with 42 girls participating. Theme of the show was "Open Door to Fashions" and featured styles of the past, present and future.

Girls in the show were from all four years of Homemaking with all girls modeling fashions they had made and the senior homemaking class styling the ones of the future. Mothers, grandmothers and friends furnished some of the styles from the past.

During intermission Carolyn Davenport played a saxophone solo and John Kelly played a piano selection.

Following the style show, refreshments were served with girls in Homemaking III planning and preparing the spiced tea, coffee, cookies and mints.

Forest Service personnel at Detroit Ranger Station now is located in the new enlarged quarters. Here-tofore some of the office work was done in other buildings. All phases of the work, including timber sales, is now being conducted in the one location.

Election Tally

The primary election is now over and residents can have a little relief from the ballyhoo that goes with, at least for a few months. Nelson Rockefeller proved that hard work can bring results when he bested his Republican opponents in his bid for Oregon votes. In the vigorous battle for votes between incumbent Hattie Kremen and Gary Gortmaker for Marion County District Attorney, the latter came out on top. Denver Young defeated his opposition with a not too hefty lead. Marion county rejected the home rule plan. Felix Wright defeated Julius Gehring for a spot on the republican ticket for county commissioner.

Over in Linn County Al Brown lost his bid for re-election as assessor to Hal Byer and Rep. Noel A. Chowning defeated Ken Purdy of Scio. For county commissioner Floyd Jenks will run against Will White. Other offices were unopposed.

Here is how the vote went in Mill City.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Portland, Oregon

Dear Editor:
I am against the right to work law because I don't like to see a law passed that would hurt everyone instead of helping any one.

Why, if this is such a good law, has it been in the papers that some of the states that have it are trying to get rid of it because it has hurt the state's economy? Also the states that don't have it don't want it on account of they don't need it.

Anyone who is thinking about voting for such a law should check the states that have it to see the effect it has had on the people there.

This isn't a right to work law because everyone now has the right to work where they want to. All they have to do is get hired where they want to work. This is a law to hurt the Oregon unions and if they are hurt everyone will be in an indirect way.

As I look around me I can see a lot of things I wouldn't have if I wasn't making a livable wage which no one will be under a right to work law.

Yours truly,
Gaylord George Huston,
