Work Smarter . . . Not Harder
By Bernice Strawn
Extension Home Management
Specialist Oregon State
Brides—if washing men's shirts is new to you, here is a tip to keep the sleeves from twisting. Try buttoning the cuffs to the front band of the garment. This prevents tangling and there will be fewer wrinkles to iron out. Try this for your long sleeve blouses, too.

Perspiration Stains usually come out if laundered as soon as possible in warm suds: If the color of the fabric has changed, try to restore it by treating with ammonia. If the stain is fresh. For an old stain, apply white vinegar, then rinse thoroughly.

If a yellow stain remains on a white garment, use a bleach suitable for the fabric. This could be chlorine type except of silk, wool, spandex, or certain resin finishes. For these, use a powered bleach. If color from a coat lining has rubbed off on a white shirt, then you'll need to treat it with a color remover. You can get this in packaged form at drug, variety or grocery stores.

For information on other stains, call your County Extension office.
