

Else Allen Shows Slides of Trip at Lions Club Meeting

Mrs. Else Allen entertained Lions at their regular meeting Monday night. She showed colored slides of South America. She had made a three-month tour of the country and her pictures gave Lions a better concept of that country and their way of life.

Guests for the evening were several boys and girls of the month, including Kande Henness, Terry Hansen, Alan Yankus, Sandra Cooper and Mark Bennett. Others who were unable to attend were Dennis Davidson, Kathe Kelle and Patti Eastwood.

President Martin Hansen expressed his thanks to the faculty members; Lara Wilson, who had Brenda Cannon and Tania Brown dance at the White Cane Basketball wishes to thank all others who assisted in making the event a success. Clyde Richards, Lee Ross, Fred Berg, and Jim Wettergreen were appointed on a committee to make a check of the Community center Wednesday night to see what needs to be done in the way of repairs. He also announced a work night for Monday, March 27.

Over 1000 Attend Jehovah's Witness Meet at Sweet Home

A crowd of 1277 filled the Sweet Home high school gym for the highlight of the circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses Sunday, March 5, according to John Woodcock, local presiding minister. Climaxing the three-day assembly was the Watchtower Society's all-color film, "God Cannot Lie," narrated by Alwyn L. Franck, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses.

The film "How the Bible Is Helpful Today" helped the viewers feel that they are not alone to face the diverse problems that confront mankind. It helped them to know that the true God is not the product of human imagination and He has not left it to man to discover through centuries of experience that there is a God, but, lovingly, He has revealed himself through His work, the Bible.

One of the outstanding features of the assembly was the baptism Saturday afternoon of 13 men and women who symbolized their dedication to do God's will by water immersion.

The local minister also announced that all meeting and other activities of the congregation suspended during the convention will return to the normal schedule.

W. Craig Speaks At Masonic-Star Banquet Saturday

Those attending the annual Masonic-Eastern Star banquet Saturday evening had the pleasure of hearing Willard Craig, worthy patron of the Eastern Star Chapter at Blythville.

He gave a humorous talk, but it was interspersed with some real food for thought. He told a story of how the hemline of dresses has been going up and down during the many years. He also said that a study of the clothing women wear had a marked influence on their opportunity to secure employment after leaving college. He said a group making a study found that the "mini-skirt went with the mini-mind." He also admonished parents to have better control over their children and not leave their bringing-up entirely to the schools. He gave as an illustration, a mother bear with two cubs, how even a bear knows enough to reprimand her cubs, in order to teach them better behavioral patterns. He also spoke out firmly on modern math, saying that many college level students didn't even know their multiplication tables above the table of five.

He also said taxes were getting so high that many people who have retired were no longer able to pay the taxes on their homes, so were losing them.

A group of English hand bell ringers from the Methodist church at Silverton played several selections.

Veryl Hoover was Master of Ceremonies for the evening. The dinner was prepared by the Rainbow Mothers, and served by the Rainbow Girls. The St. Patrick theme was carried out in the table decor.

Heads Cancer Drive

Clarke Miller, vice-president of a Portland insurance firm, will serve as chairman of the April crusade for the American Cancer Society's Oregon division, Reuben Getz, division president, announced.

Miller served as vice-chairman of the Crusade a year ago.

In accepting the appointment, Miller stated that the Crusade has a two-fold purpose: to raise funds to support various projects of the society and to acquaint the public with life-saving facts about cancer.

He pointed out that over $270,000 of Crusade funds were at work in a variety of research projects in Oregon last year, including $96,768 in division funds and $173,935 from the national organization.

Miller announced that Earl M. Pallett of Eugene will be his vice-chairman. Others assisting in the campaign will be C. A. Boiler of Medford and Norman Glenn of Portland, special gifts; Mrs. James Durkheimer, residential; Mrs. Stephen Janik, public education; Dr. James Whitely, professional education; George A. D. Kerr, trusts and foundations; John Reynolds, independent business; Dr. Matthew McKirdie, memorials; Warde Erwin, legacies, and Robert DeKoning, special events.
