Scholarship Fund Drive Starts on 17th

Jim Rose, chairman of the Canyon scholarship fund drive in Mill City and Gates said the week of April 17 would be the kick-off time for an intensified drive for funds in the area.

Mr. Rose and Fred Berg will contact the business houses and mills in the area for the scholarship which is given to two seniors at Santiam High school. Mrs. Mel Rambo and a group of volunteers from Mill City and Mrs. Dave Barnhardt and helpers in Gates will make a house to house drive for funds.

Goal for the scholarship is $600 and a number of organizations now include this project in their budget for the year.

Residents are again reminded that this donation is tax deductible from income.

There have been some inquiries in regard to giving to the scholarship as a Memorial. These donations are being gratefully accepted and it is a thoughtful gift; a tribute to someone loved also means that others are being helped.

Anyone wishing to know more about this may contact Mr. Rose.

Heart Fund Drive Success In Mill City

Floyd Eastwood, Mill City chairman for the Oregon Heart Association, said this week that the most successful drive to date had just been completed in the Mill City area.

Eastwood stated that the drive would not have been a success without the fine assistance given by the many who worked on the drive.

Jan Waikart was chairman of the Mother's March and Richard Parker solicited the business houses for contributions. The joint effort and other individual contributions netted $428.67 for the Heart Fund.

Mr. Eastwood said the largest portion of the fund raised is used in research with much of it going to our own fine University of Oregon medical school.

He said that to date, there have been over one thousand successful open heart surgeries in Oregon, many of which would not have been possible a few years ago. Mrs. Jack Sullivan of Mill City was one of the recent patients to undergo a successful operation for the open heart surgery.

Mr. Eastwood said he and the other volunteer workers appreciated the good response by area donors.

Parents Observe Springboard Project

The "Springboard" exposition was made available to seventh and eighth grade student's parents on Monday night at the Mill City Elementary School. All parents with children in grades four through eight have now had at least one opportunity to see this project in action.

Old Kiln Razed

The last of the buildings to stand on the old Hammond Lumber site was the dry kiln. It can be seen when a portion of the roof fell in. The demolition was done by a D7 Cat, operated by Glenn Henness. Sections of the wall were sheared off until the entire structure crumbled. The area is being cleared of all debris and leveled. The old buildings on the property, no longer in use, were an eyesore. This site containing some 20 acres of level ground would make a good site for a trailer factory or a like business.—The Mill City Enterprise photo.

Old Mill Site Being Cleared

When a D-7 Cat hits something, it moves. This is evidenced in the above picture when the Cat operated by Glenn Henness tied into a huge block of cement. The ground formerly used by Hammond Lumber Co., and later by a planing mill and dry kiln operated by the late Russell Kelly is being cleared by Shields ReMine. Kelly also operated a small sawmill on the site, but it burned to the ground.—The Mill City Enterprise Photo.

Santiam Students Attend Job Fair

Fifty-six Santiam High School students attended the Job Fair held at the State Fairgrounds in Salem, April 4th. The immediate aim of the Fair was to acquaint students with the type of jobs available to them and some of the procedures for finding them. The long-range objective is an upgrading of the labor market for Oregon industry.

Santiam students, accompanied by teachers viewed exhibit booths staffed by management and personnel representing a major segment of Oregon business and industry. Four group sessions were scheduled during which about 20 students were seated in a booth to learn about a particular company or industry and its employment opportunities for high school graduates. The students had individual interviews with many employers also.

This was sponsored by Oregon Business and Industry, the Division of Continuing Education, Oregon State System of Higher Education, and the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth.

Organizing of 4-H Horse Club Getting Good Start in Area

GATES—A 4-H Horse Club has been organized by Mrs. Walter Thomas, Jr. for Gates-Mill City area youngsters. Her assistant is Mrs. Donald Hurst of Mill City. The club has about 20 enthusiastic members to date who are calling themselves the Mountain Peak Outlaws. Club requirements include that the youngsters be from 9 to 16 years of age, must either own a horse or have full control of a rented or borrowed animal and must be able to buy a club riding outfit. These outfits, Mrs. Thomas says, are being kept as simple as possible. The horses must have bridles and curry combs and brushes. Saddles are optional. It costs $1.00 to join and 25 cents will be charged at meetings which will be held twice a month.

The State of Oregon scales were opened Saturday morning so that the group could weigh their horses. The 4-H rules state each member must know the weight and measurement of his animal. Following the weigh in, a meeting was held at the home of Laura Blackburn. Club officers are Jackie Evans, president; Rosie Whitney, vice-president; Rebecca Savage, secretary; and Toni Newberg, treasurer.

With more and more area youngsters becoming horse owners, this club offers a wonderful opportunity for the kids to learn responsibility in the care and training of their animals. They will be taught how to control their animals, saddle and bridle them, train them for the Marion County 4-H Show, prepare them for parades and to properly feed, water and groom their horses.

The club has been invited to attend a 4-H training day at Glendale Acres near Salem on April 22 from 10:00 A.M. to 2:45 P.M. The Multnomah County 4-H Club will have their horses there. Judging will be done by Judge McCrendrich of Multnomah County. Sack lunches will be taken and each member will bring 10 cents to cover cost of insurance. Transportation will be provided by the leaders of the club.

Posters have been put up for a car wash project set for April 15. Proceeds will be used to purchase two flags and emblems and names for vests.

Last Saturday's trip to the scales was the first time they had traveled with the horses in a group. Mrs. Thomas said, and it presented some exciting moments with some of the horses feeling their oats and others nervous at being with strange horses. Mrs. Thomas said the major cause of anxiety was the poor attitude of some motorists who raced their motors or sounded their horns, frightening the horses and making them harder to handle. Since this group will be out at least twice a month during the summer, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Hurst are asking that motorists respect the right-of-way of the horses on the roads. The riders in turn will try to stay off the roads when possible.
