The Days When Time is Money

Regular savers know that time is money—especially the first ten days of every month. This is the time to "pay yourself first" by adding to your savings, because funds received by the 10th of the month earn dividends from the 1st. Don't let procrastination steal away your extra earnings—save regularly for family security and the things you want—and get the most for your money by adding to your savings during the first ten days of the month.
