GATES

By Janet Lewis
CORRECTION—The statement last week re: attempt to license businesses was incorrect. There is at present an ordinance to license businesses. However, it has not been enforced since 1966. The question before the council is whether to begin enforcement again or to delete the ordinance from the books.
It is requested that the people of Gates do not call Fred Woods when there are water difficulties. He has been receiving numerous calls on each problem. He is aware of the problems because he is on city water himself. The cause of the muddy water last week was the flushing of some water hydrants. This is done every three months to clear them and keep them in working order.
Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bassett and children, a nephew, and Mrs. Louise Case and Tari, all of Salem visited Mrs. Lang Stafford Saturday.
New officers were elected by the Gates Christian church. They are Mrs. Elinor Wilson, superintendent; Judy Holman, assistant; Ruby Brisbin, pianist and Olive Barnhardt, secretary.
Mrs. Eileen Hunter, Wayne
