Gordon Ward Returns From Eight Month Ship Assignment

USS Bon Homme Richard—Radioman Seaman Gordon E. Ward, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Ward of Klamath Falls, and husband of the former Miss Kathy M. Owen, Lyons, Ore., returned to San Diego, Calif., aboard the attack carrier Bon Homme Richard when it completed an eight-month assignment as part of a carrier strike force off the coast of North Vietnam.

Operating from "Yankee Station" in the Gulf of Tonkin, the carrier launched its pilots on a total of 11,500 strike and combat support missions and averaged one major air strike every other day. She made a total of 10,856 arrested landings during her deployment. Her pilots are credited with destroying 14 enemy jet planes.

Pilots from the carrier were the first to locate and then demolish vital thermal power plants near the capital city of Hanoi, North Vietnam. In three successive air strikes, "Bonnie Dick" pilots reduced North Vietnam's electrical power production by an estimated fifty percent.

Targets for the carrier strike pilots included airfields, trucks, railroads, missile complexes, highways, bridges, strategic supply routes and numerous other sites. Carrier pilots delivered a total of 5,506 tons of ordnance on military targets on North Vietnam before the ship ended her third Vietnam combat tour.
