Student Council was held during 4th period March 26th. The passing of several activity sheets, approving the recommendation of having a Boy and Girl of the year, and the U. of O. Symposium were all discussed. April 11th the Symposium will give an Assembly. An activity sheet for the Freshmen-Eighth Grade Dance on May 4th was passed. The F.T.A. will have a sale of Garters and G.A.A. will be selling candy during the noon hours. The Council also discussed the election of the Whitewater Princess and cheerleading elections. Cheerleading elections will be held the third week in April for Varsity and the fourth week America recently held a meet- ing J.V.

ing to elect their club officers for the coming year. They are as follows: President: Janis Jacobson; Vice President, Ginny Lankins; Secretary, Barbara Hutchinson; Treasurer, Debby McClellan; Historian, Sue Crowther; Reporter, Esther Freeman; and Points Chairman, Linda Crowther. The reason for the earliness in the election was so that their 68-69 President could attend the State FHA Convention.

Pep Club held a meeting to discuss plans for what they should do with the large treasury they've acquired. It was voted on having a school Mascot for the coming year. Other suggestions that were made were spending the money on uniforms, the score board, and sending next years President to a workshop in the summer. All these ideas were not voted on, but seemed to be approved by the girls. The Club decided to hold another meeting when a decision will be made.

Honor Society held a meeting on Friday to discuss plans for possibly having a Computer Dance in the month of April. There being no other urgent business to discuss the club adjourned early.

Friday night the Junior class sponsored a Sock Hop which drew quite a large crowd. Those attending seemed to have a lot of fun.

The Gallup Organization, famous for its Gallup Poll, found that a whopping 75% of the people who heat with electricity rate it "comfortable."

The answer came in a recent nationwide heating survey which also discovered that only 59% of the people heating with gas and 66% of those with oil systems rated their heat as "comfortable."

The Gallup Organization polled people about heat costs as well. They said:

"Electric heat is economical" More than half (52%) of the electric heat users gave their systems a rating of "economical." Only 41% of the people with gas heating systems said their heat costs were "economical," and oil systems got the same rating.

Northwest findings agree

A recent comparative study of 300 Oregon and Washington homes supports these nationwide heat cost findings. Total utility costs for all-electric homes were compared with the total utility costs for those heated with gas. On the average, all-electric homes cost $46.24* less to operate on an annual basis.

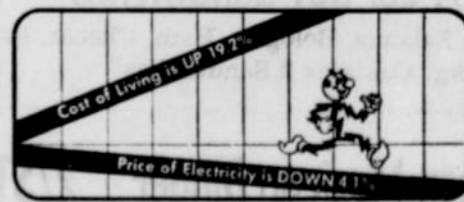

"Electric heat's clean, safe"

The Gallup study found electric heat was a clear-cut favorite in two other areas—cleanliness and safety. Electric heat was rated "clean" by 76% of the users, compared with a 53% rating for gas, 50% for oil. Nearly two-thirds of the people with electric heat rated it "safe," against less than half of those with flame-type heat systems.

Convert your home

Why not join the thousands of people who already enjoy the comfort, economy, safety and cleanliness of electric heat? Ask the man at Pacific Power about converting your old-fashioned heating system to flameless electric heat. He'll be glad to help with the planning and financing. Just give him a call.
