Students Tour Hilltop Market

A few weeks ago Mrs. Elaine Main, fifth grade teacher at the Mill City grade school, said a group of her students visited the Hilltop Market. They used this experience for one of their field trips with the youngsters writing on how a grocery store was operated.

Some of the writings showed a great deal of imagination; particularly humorous was the one written by Verlene Peterman.

I am a tomato sitting on a shelf. I like to watch the workers run the store. All kinds of things happen in a store. It's fun to watch people buy things and also to see what the people buy.

The store workers have a neat machine that tenderizes or cubes meat and if they get their hand stuck in it they won't have a hand very long.

I have lots of friends. Here are some of them: Corky the Corn, Happy the Hamburger, Pale the peach, Bay the banana, and lots more. One of my friends was bought and she thought that was neat. She got to see the cash register and all kinds of things that she had never seen before.

Before I was put out on the shelf, I was in a box with a bunch of other tomatoes and I saw a large freezer with a lot of meat in it and one with eggs and bees and another one with ice cream, ice, Turkey, and chicken.

About every 2 hours all the fruit has to be sprayed with water.

Oh, no, a lady just picked me up and she is going to buy me! Well, good by, I wish I could stay and tell you some more about the store.

WOOD— THE FIBER OF AMERICA

Educating today's youth for tomorrow's opportunities is the most important job in America. An important part of this preparation is the development of an appreciation for and an understanding of the forest resources that helped build this nation. Our forests, used wisely and protected from fire, will provide the wood we need for products essential to our comfort and security.
