MEDICARE

After the advent of Medicare an ordinary citizen awoke one morning with a severe pain in his side. He went downtown to a high building marked MEDICARE. In the lobby he found an elevator marked NEW PATIENTS and entered. When it stopped he found himself in a corridor facing a long row of doors bearing, in alphabetical order the names of all common ailments. Selecting the one marked APPENDICITIS he entered and saw that he was in a tiny room with two doors on the far wall marked MALE and FEMALE. Passing through the door marked MALE he found two more doors marked PROTESTANT and CATHOLIC. Being a good BAPTIST he chose the door marked PROTESTANT and entered. Inside were two more marked WHITE and COLORED. No problem here. Choosing the door marked WHITE he went in and found two doors marked TAX-PAYER and NON-PAYER. Since he was in good standing with his local government, he chose the door marked TAX-PAYER. Facing him were two doors marked SINGLE and MARRIED. Appreciating his good wife and her concern all the more he went through the door marked MARRIED only to find two more doors marked REPUBLICAN and DEMOCRAT. With a sigh he opened the door marked REPUBLICAN and fell nine stories into the alley.
