Mrs. James Budlong Heads Mother's March Here

Mrs. James Budlong has been named Mill City's chairman for the Mothers' March for the National Foundation—March of Dimes by Mrs. William Nowell of Lebanon, Mothers' March Chairman for Linn County. The annual doorbell-ringing campaign by women volunteers to raise money for the March of Dimes will take place this year on Monday, February 3, in Mill City.

Believing that it is every mother's responsibility "to do all that she can to speed the day when birth defects will no longer threaten our children", she is seeking volunteers throughout the Mill City area to give time on this one day of the year to ring neighborhood doorbells seeking contributions to carry on the fight against birth defects.

Each year throughout the nation more than 250,000 babies come into the world with birth defects—one every 120 seconds. In Oregon alone the yearly total of these infants is about 2200. Since 1958 the March of Dimes has established more than 100 birth defects centers that offer help to present victims of birth defects and hope through research to unborn generations.

"Rh blood disease, once an infant killer, can now be prevented by a newly developed vaccine. One should also be available soon to prevent German measles which is a major cause of birth defects," Mrs. Budlong observed.

"But the real work is only beginning and must be vigorously supported by each of us—through volunteer time and generous contributions," Mill City's chairman added.

Prospective volunteer workers are invited to call Mrs. Budlong at 897-2458.

American Legion Auxiliary Has Benefit Series

IDANHA — A March of Dimes Benefit pot-luck luncheon sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Idanha unit-141 netted the group $36.15. The recent event was held in the social room of the Idanha Fire Hall. The Fire hall will be the setting for a second benefit pot-luck luncheon on January 27th and 28th from 11:00 A. M. to 1:00 P. M.

Proceeds will be used to sponsor a boy and girl to Boys and Girls State in June.

RAMBO'S RAMBLINGS

Goldie Rambo

Are all of you good people out there like I am—wondering stuff ("weather") this white stuff will ever stop coming down. Well, at least it gives us something to complain about besides the rain—which would seem pretty good about now (Friday), especially if it was nice and warm.

People many other places have had it so much worse than we have, but golly, it does seem like the cold has lasted FOREVER. That's what happens when the bones get old and creaky.

The "boob tube" has been getting plenty of use at our house — ordinarily I don't watch it too much; like to read too well. But last night we watched the B-b Hope Christmas special and did enjoy it so much. Whether you believe in our participation in the Vietnam war or not—to see thousands of clean cut looking boys thoroughly enjoying every minute of the show and the thoughts of home that it brought to them, was a heart warming sight.

Certainly different than all the scenes of violence on our campuses with the bearded youth and some of their instructors.

I have a theory—at least part of a one—about all these young people and their demands. I think they need to have a larger part in forming the laws and rules by which they are governed and which in some instances they object to so strenuously. Of course they say, "THAT is exactly what we are complaining about". But the way in which they are demanding it is all wrong, in my opinion.

Getting down to a few words —what I really mean is—I believe the voting age should be lowered to 18. This is not suddenly something I have decided just because the governor of our state thinks so—have expressed it affirmatively for many years. If the 18 year-olds are old enough to fight for their country—or oppose it; drive a car and do many other things adults do—surely they are old enough to vote. I think they would do a very creditable job at it, too.

The interest the young people (I am speaking of the sincere non-violent ones) took in our recent elections should prove that they would like to take a more active part in the society in which they live. They might make some mistakes in judgement—but don't we all.

I was talking to one young person this week—we got to discussing the "state of the nation", so to speak and in the short span of her young life I thought she had some good ideas. It also showed that some of our young still think sensibly and know the score.

She wondered why our so-called affluent society seemed so unhappy — why so many frustrations and lack of peace of mind. She has discovered that money does not buy happiness. That living for one's self alone can make for bitterness. Surely we must give of ourselves as well as material things. There is a deep inward satisfaction in assisting some one, cheering them up and on.

The young woman said, with wisdom beyond her years, "Must we return to a simpler way of life to find what real happiness is?"

Well, we come back where we started—what is the answer. But we are living in a restless, self-centered society—with too many people saying to hell with the other guy—I'm going to get mine."

I'm sure no problems have been solved—but it does us all good to stop and talk about things once in awhile—who knows, perhaps a solution may be found to some of them.

In the meantime, remember happiness is where you make it—not where you find it.

Santiam Memorial Hospital Auxiliary To Have Luncheon

STAYTON — The annual luncheon of the Santiam Memorial Hospital auxiliary will be held Thursday, February 20 at the Masonic Hall in Stayton. The 12:30 luncheon will be served by the Catholic Daughters. All Auxiliary members and friends are welcome and urged to attend.

The annual report will be given at the meeting and a guest speaker will address the group. There will also be a musical program.

Marge Parker Attends Sorority Brunch In Albany Saturday

Marge Parker, Mill City school teacher attended a Delta Kappa Gamma brunch Saturday at the home of Mrs. Katherine Buike in Albany.

Wanda McAllister, Associate editor of the Corvallis Gazette Times and John Buchner, executive publisher of the Albany Democrat Herald participated in a panel program.

Round Robin Club Meets at Podrabsky Home Monday Evening

Irene Podrabsky entertained members of the Round Robin pinocle club at her home Monday evening, serving a "conversation dessert" of cherry jubilee.

Guest for the evening was Jessie Bodeker who won the high prize. Other prize winners were Evelyn Davis, low and Lu MacGregor, pinocle.

The next party will be February 3 at the home of Marie Stewart.

Judy Roten Has Birthday Party

GATES—Mrs. John Roten gave a birthday party for her daughter Judy's 8th birthday on January 14. Those attending the party were Susan Evans, Linda Urban, Leslie Bigness, Tanya Brown, Donna Syverson, Brenda Blackburn, Charlotte Davidson, Teresa Roten, Tony Roten, Dee Dee Roten, Tena Hampton, Jeannie Essman and Susie Lewis. Kim Crook was unable to attend because of the chicken pox.

The children played games and prizes were won by Charlotte Davidson and Leslie Bigness. Mrs. Crook baked a butterfly cake, which was served with ice cream for refreshments.

The Old Timer

"The most comforting thing about the ten top hits, is that next week they won't be."

At any time you may become involved in a lawsuit which might deprive you of much of your life savings. Liability claims against you or members of your family from bodily injury or property damage suffered by others, on your premises or elsewhere, can often be disastrous.

Comprehensive Personal Liability Insurance will protect you against such judgment up to $10,000 (higher limits are available), with all court and attorneys' fees paid for. At such a nominal cost can you really afford to be without such protection? Call on us for further details without obligation.
