I led them with cords of compassion.—(Hos. 11:4).

Even where there is not another person around, we are never alone. We have the presence of God right with us. This does not mean that we do not need other persons in our life, for surely we all do. But when we rise out of feelings of loneliness or dejection, when we feel close to God, held in His warm and loving care, we find that this loving care includes not only God's love but also the love of other persons, for God's love finds expression through people.
