Social Security To Have Booth at Fair

Along with other public agencies, the Salem Social Security Office will have an interesting display at the Oregon State Fair, August 23 through September 1.

C. I. Flaten, District Manager of the Salem Social Security Office, said the exhibit will include a slide presentation explaining some of the Major provisions of the Social Security program. Pamphlets will be available and one of the representatives from the local office will be on hand to answer questions about the program.

The main display will feature a listing of how many Oregonians are Social Security Beneficiaries and how much money per month is paid to Oregon families.

Mr. Flaten said the display will occupy one of the corner booths near the center of the tent exhibit area. He explained that the convenience of the fair booth will extend the service of the local office, located at 702 Church Street, NE in downtown Salem where the public is always welcome. Office hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday. For the convenience of those who are unable to visit or phone the office during regular working hours, the office is open until 7:30 p. m. on Monday evenings.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR TAX SAVINGS

LET'S CONSOLIDATE

Congress is considering legislation to bring order out of chaos in the Federal grants-in-aid programs.

With 42 new programs added in the last Congress, the number of grant categories has now reached 420, according to Sen. Mundt, (R-S.D.). "Since 1948, grant programs have increased from $1.8 billion to an estimated $20.8 billion for fiscal year 1969 and an expected $25 billion in the current fiscal year," he explained. Senator Mundt said that the grants as a source of state and local revenue "have become increasingly important, demonstrating the acute need for improving their administration." The amount of such grants compared with total state-local revenue has grown from ten to eighteen percent in the past twenty years.

The proposed legislation would permit the President to examine and consolidate grants which cover programs of a similar or related nature. Greater efficiency and coordination at lower cost can be the result, while state initiative in solving state-local problems will, at the same time, be encouraged.

The Bureau of the Budget will provide the President and Congress with an objective analysis of the progress reports submitted by the program heads.

Such legislation should result in more efficient and economic administration of the programs, subject the consolidated grants to Congressional review, and limit their duration to their authorized period.

The Administration and the Congress are to be commended on their efforts to streamline the complexity of these federal operations.
