Old Man Winter Returns To Detroit With a Thunder Storm

DETROIT—A thunderstorm of a fairly mild nature moved into the Upper North Santiam Canyon Thursday afternoon about 2:45 p. m. Although the rumble of thunder was short lived it brought rain and gusty winds, following a couple of three dry runs with some sunshine thrown in for good measure.

The thunderstorm was the first of the season, and its appearance at this early date somehow made one feel it put the run on old man winter. A short while back we mentioned our feathered friends, the robins, were returning to the area. It was noted here Monday that they are now arriving in large numbers, and their loud chirps as they scrouge for food following their migration here is a welcome treat to the ears.

Although the winter has been a wet one. Last winter even a green blade of grass in February was a welcome sight after nearly being buried in tons of snow, of which most of it fell in January. So things are looking "up" again in the North Santiam Canyon as we welcome all of the lovely signs of an early spring.

A PROPHECIC STATESMAN

George Washington not only provided superb leadership to make our embryonic republic work, but guidelines which are still timely and sound. This is particularly true of his Farewell Address which he used to give advice for the future. This future still has not been fully realized and many of his words can serve as a challenge today.

For example, in administering the affairs of the new government of the United States he urged "efficient management" with "as much vigor as is consistent with the perfect security of liberty." He said, "Liberty itself will find in such a government, with powers properly distributed and adjusted, its surest guardian."

He valued religion highly, saying, "It is substantially true that virtue or morality is a necessary spring of popular government." Our first President also emphasized the need for education when he said that, "In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened."

He also saw the need for government economy, expressing his opinion that public credit should be cherished as an important source of strength and security. "One method of preserving it," he said, "is to use it as sparingly as possible, avoiding occasions of expense by cultivating peace, but remembering also that timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it."

When he talked about the need for patriotism he showed both eloquence and wisdom:

"Citizens, by birth or choice, of a common country, that country has a right to concentrate your affections. The name of American, which belongs to you in your national capacity must always elicit the just pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local discrimination. With slight shades of difference, you have the same religion, manners, habits, and political principles. You have in a common cause fought and triumphed together; the independence and liberty you possess are the work of joint councils, and joint efforts of common dangers, sufferings, and successes."

Truly his words retain their validity as we seek answers to the problems of our day.

Troop No. 49 Cleans Trash From Streets

Scouts of Mill City's Troop 49 have concluded their part of a nation-wide recognition of the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America. In the past 60 years over 6 million men and boys have participated in the movement which stresses outdoor living and service to others. Scout week began for Troop 49 with an overnight snow trip to Hoodoo Ski bowl. Bus trouble was overcome by the efforts of the use of a crummy by Gilbert Logging Co., and a truck by Shields ReMine. The scouts had fun at the ski area and learned a bit more about camping in an area where there is snow.

Boy Scout Week was concluded by a clean-up drive along Mill City's downtown streets. The scouts with assistant scoutmaster Cyril Archer, Jr., and Scoutmaster Herb Bastuscheck picked up about 14 large sacks of trash from the downtown area. They then went to the fire hall where they washed the fire trucks and were given a meal by the Mill City Volunteer Fire department. Attendance at church Sunday marked the end of Boy Scout Week observance.

Troop 49 has had an active program of monthly campouts and is in the process of planning a long-term trip this summer to Canada similar to the National Jamboree trip which was taken last summer.

Any men in the community who would be willing or able to give 7 to 10 days of their time this summer to accompany the troop to Canada are asked to contact Scoutmaster Herb Bastuscheck. The boys will be unable to go without more adult help.
