High of 74 Hit at Detroit April 4-5

DETROIT—Weather report for the month of April, with a comparative report for the same period in 1970, is as follows:

The high temperature during the month was 74 degrees on the 4th and 5th, and the lowest was 26 degrees on the 1st. In 1970 the high was 64 degrees on the 3rd and the low was 26 degrees on the 7th. Average mean in 1971 was 44 degrees, against 42 degrees in 1970.

Precipitation (melted snow and rain) was 4.91 inches, with the heaviest fall being 1.18 inches on the 9th. A total of 7 inches of snow fell during the month with a high of 3 inches on Easter Sunday.

In 1970 the precipitation was 7.40 inches, with 3.35 inches of snow, of which 1.50 inches fell on the 26th.

During the month there were a few snow flurries which left snow on the mountains but left no measurable amount on the ground here. Snow can still be seen on mountain tops. Trees and flowers are beginning to bud and youngsters all seem to be armed with fishing rods.

Total amount of precipitation for the year, to and including April 30th, was 47.34 inches, against 44.05 for the same period in 1970.

Recreation Vehicles Plentiful in Oregon

If you think the highways each spring and summer become crowded with campers and travel trailers—most of them in front of you—the Oregon Motor Vehicles Division says you have reason to think so.

In 1970, the Division licensed 85,483 campers, motor homes and travel trailers. Only 2,600 of them were classified as motor homes. The agency says the 1970 figure means that there is one recreational vehicle for approximately every 15 passenger cars licensed in the state.

This was the first year the agency provided a breakdown for recreational vehicles. It stemmed from changes in the registration law requiring such units to be licensed as a special class for the first time last year.

Fees collected on these units are designated for acquisition and maintenance of state parks. In 1970, this amounted to $90,447 from motor homes; $156,185 from campers; and $1,135,848 from travel trailers; for a total of $1,582,480. Mobile home registration fees also go to this fund and, in 1970, this amounted to $244,058.

Populous Multnomah county, as might be expected, had the highest number of recreational vehicles licensed, 15,742. It was followed by Lane county with 10,416. Other counties with 5,000 or more recreational vehicles were: Clackamas, 6,912; Washington, 5,284; Marion, 5,771; and Jackson, 5,019.

Astoria Man Now At Fish Hatchery

MARION FORKS—Transferring recently to the Marion Forks Fish Hatchery from Big Creek Fish Hatchery, Astoria, was Jim Humphrey.

He succeeds Adrian Overlander, who retired recently. Mr. Overlander came to the Marion Forks Fish Hatchery from Metolius Fish Hatchery 13 years ago. His retirement follows 18 years of service in this type of work. He and his wife have moved to their home at Rockaway. Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey and 4-year-old son moved to Marion Forks last week.

"fun insurance"

It's a new kind of insurance that covers things like your camper or boat or water skis or—most of the many fun things you use for your leisure or your holidays. It's well worth the small cost.
